

MAUI

By Jon Blum

Maui is the best. The best place in the world. I have been to Maui over 25 times, and now live there for part of each year. This paper contains my suggestions to help you get the most out of your trip to paradise. Here you will find loads of helpful hints about the many wonderful sights and activities and restaurants and hotels and condos on Maui.

You can read or print the latest version of this Maui info paper, as well as find over 400 additional pages of other Maui information, plus numerous photos, on this web site, which is at www.mauihawaii.org

Print out this entire paper from the PDF format version at www.mauihawaii.org/MauiPDF.pdf. Use it to help plan your trip, and take it to Maui for reference. Make copies for friends going to Maui, or tell them to read it at www.mauihawaii.org. Don't leave home without it!

Whether you print this paper or not, you can get more detailed information at www.mauihawaii.org by clicking there on the tabs for the subjects you want to read more about, such as Hotels-Condos (reviews of specific hotels and condos with photos of their rooms and pools), Restaurants (reviews with menu lists and photos of the food), Things to Do (activities and sightseeing and attractions including comparisons of companies offering whale watches, luaus, guided van tours, snorkeling, helicopters, and much more), Car Rentals (tips on getting good deals), Flights, Golf (all the courses on Maui discussed), Weather (including charts of temperatures for each month), Webcams, Weddings and Honeymoons, and many more.

CONTENTS:

I can't give you page numbers, because this paper prints out on different numbers of pages, depending on how you downloaded it from the Internet, and on which program you used to print out the file. But here are the major sections of this Maui information paper, in the order you will find them:

WHEN IS THE BEST TIME TO GO TO MAUI:

It's ALWAYS a good time to go to Maui.

In the winter, there is more chance of rain on Maui than at other times of the year. But this is still the best time to go to Maui because you can escape from the terrible winter weather back home. And it usually only rains for a couple hours, once or twice per week. There are parts of Maui that get more rain (such as Hana and Kapalua), and parts that get less rain (such as Wailea). But Kaanapali Beach, my favorite part of Maui, does not get much rain either, and an hour or two of rain sure beats a week or two of snow back home. And winter is the only time to see the whales.

Christmas to New Year is the most crowded time and the most expensive time to go to Maui. Hotels can charge their highest prices this week, because they are usually completely filled with families traveling during the time school is out.

Summer is the hottest time on Maui, and the least rainy. It's a good time for many families to bring the kids while school is out.

Spring and fall are the least crowded times to go to Maui, so you can get the best package deals on hotels and condos, the easiest time getting into any restaurant, and the least traffic on the roads.

For a detailed chart showing the temperature and rainfall for each month of the year on Maui, see the Weather page of my Maui Vacations website at www.mauihawaii.org/maui-weather.htm

OVERVIEW OF MAUI:

Maui is composed of two half-islands (east and west), joined by a wide valley. Maui is 48 miles long and 26 miles wide, or six miles at the narrowest point of the valley between the bays (728 square miles). The population is 127,000 residents, plus 42,000 tourists. The largest city is Kahului (population 20,000). Maui is the second-largest Hawaiian island. Over 2 million tourists come to Maui each year. The airport you will come in at is in Kahului, in the northeast corner of the central valley. Unfortunately, nobody will give you a flower lei when you arrive in Hawaii unless you bought it in advance as part of a package tour. But you can buy leis at a shop in the airport main terminal, or you can buy them cheaper another day at a grocery store. [The code-letters for the main airport in Kahului are OGG, which honors a pilot named Bertram J. Hogg, who pioneered commercial passenger flights between the Hawaiian islands. There is a smaller airport in West Maui (Kapalua), but it only handles propeller shuttle flights from Honolulu. The code-letters for that small airport are JHM, which stands for John Henry Magoon, a pilot who was the president of Hawaiian Airlines when the Kapalua airport opened.]

The Hyatt Regency, Westin, Sheraton, Kaanapali Beach, Royal Lahaina, Maui Kaanapali Villas and several other hotels and condos are on Kaanapali Beach, north of the town of Lahaina, on the west side of WEST Maui. Three of those hotels are much older than the others, and so are less expensive but also much less luxurious: Royal Lahaina opened in 1962, Maui Kaanapali Villas in 1963 and Kaanapali Beach Hotel opened in 1964. (The Sheraton originally opened in 1963, but was completely rebuilt, not just remodeled, in 1996, so is now the newest hotel on Kaanapali Beach.) The Ritz Carlton Kapalua is about 20 minutes north of Kaanapali Beach.

The Wailea Marriott (formerly Intercontinental), Grand Wailea, Four Seasons, Fairmont Kea Lani, and Makena Beach (former Maui Prince) are the main hotels in the Wailea area, which is the other popular modern hotel section, and is in the southwest part of the east half of Maui (often called SOUTH Maui). (The Renaissance Wailea, formerly the Stouffer, closed in 2007, and is being re-constructed to make a new hotel called Andaz.)

The above paragraphs list hotels, but there are also many very good condos to stay at on both sides of Maui (west and south). So if you prefer a condo over a hotel, see the "Hotels & Condos" tab of my Maui Vacations website at www.mauihawaii.org for detailed information about many condo choices, including photos of specific hotels and condos buildings, rooms, pools and beaches.

The roads you will drive on (between airport and hotels and restaurants) are excellent, modern, well-maintained and well-marked. The drive from the Kahului Airport to your Kaanapali Beach hotel is 30 miles and takes 50 minutes. If you are staying at one of the Wailea hotels, the drive from the airport is about 18 miles and takes about 30 minutes. The driving distance between the two main resort areas, Kaanapali and Wailea, is 36 miles and takes about one hour. There are only a few main roads on Maui, so it's easy to follow the map you get from your car rental agency, and you will learn your way around.

UPDATES:

Please send comments or questions via email to Jon@mauihawaii.org. Please include the word Maui in the subject line of your email, so I can separate your email from the junk and spam emails.

I post an updated version of this file onto the Internet every April. The version you are reading was posted in April of 2012. If your trip to Maui will be later than the end of April of 2013, then you should read this version for now, but you should also download the next version of this file, from my Maui site, www.mauihawaii.org again, after the end of April, 2013.

TRAVEL AGENTS AND VISITORS BUREAU AND MAP:

See your travel agent or shop the internet, for package deals that may include airfare and hotel and/or rental car. Compare those package prices with the price you can get by booking directly with the hotel or condo and with the airline. You can also check discount hotel prices at www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/discount-prices.htm

Suggested Maui travel agent to help you pick and reserve where to stay (which hotel or condo), or reserve your boat rides and luaus and other activities, reserve restaurants, reserve golf, buy tours, arrange guides, and arrange for any special requirements you may have: Kay Ryan ("Maui Kay") of Maui Vacation Consultants. Email her at kay@mauikay.com or see her web site at www.mauikay.com (You can call her at 1-808-669-0451, but email is best.) Kay can email back and forth with you before you arrive, send you a packet of info brochures about Maui, book activities in advance before you arrive if desired, meet you in your hotel or condo, spend an hour with you highlighting maps and answering questions and orienting you to Maui, and allow you to call her any time during your stay on Maui with more questions. Another special service that Kay offers, is finding exactly the right condo or hotel for you to stay in. Since she lives on Maui and does this every day, she is very familiar with the many choices available, and will discuss your needs with you, to reserve the place that best fits your own needs and budget. This hotel or condo booking service costs you nothing, since Kay acts as a travel agent and gets her commission from the hotel or condo. Tell her you heard about her on Jon's Maui Info website, and you can be sure she will give you great service.

To reserve your own activities for your Maui visit (luau, boats, tours, helicopter, whale-watch, horseback, etc.) or to get info about discounts on those activities, see the Maui Activities section of this website at www.mauihawaii.org/mauiactivities.htm

For more information before you go, or after you arrive, call the Maui Visitors Bureau at 1-800-525-MAUI or 1-808-244-3530 or see their web site at www.visitmaui.com. For other islands as well as Maui, call the Hawaii Visitors Bureau at 1-808-923-1811. For Lahaina events, call 1-888-310-1117 or see www.visitlahaina.com

While on Maui, stop in for info at the Lahaina Visitors Center, in the old courthouse behind the Banyan Tree in Lahaina. It's open every day 9-5. Phone 667-9193.

You can get a free map of Maui (and big informative color booklet) before you go, by ordering the Maui Vacation Planner from the Maui Visitors Bureau at 1-800-525-MAUI or 1-808-244-3530 or on their web site at www.visitmaui.com

To find out what special events will be going on during the dates you will be on Maui, call

For schedules of free entertainment in the two tourist shopping centers in the two main resort areas:

Whalers Village www.whalersvillage.com

Shops at Wailea www.shopsatwailea.com

FREQUENT FLYER POINTS:

Be sure to sign up for United or American or Delta Airlines "Frequent Flyer Club" (or whatever airline you are flying) before you go. It's free. Both husband and wife should join. And speaking of that long and cramped and boring flight from home to Hawaii, always remember this: Getting to Hawaii from the east coast or the midwest isn't a lot of fun but the hassle will fade to a distant memory when you wake up in paradise the next morning.

YOU NEED A CAR:

Be sure to reserve a rental car before you go. You will need a car to get around on Maui. Ask about AAA discount or AARP discount on your car rental, if you belong to AAA or AARP. Ask your travel agent about hotel or condo packages that may include a rental car. For lots of tips on how to get the best price on a rental car in Hawaii (or anyplace) see the Car Rental Deals page of this website at www.mauihawaii.org/carrental.htm

THE VIEW FROM THE PLANE:

On the flight from the mainland to Hawaii, 50 minutes before landing time, look for the Hawaiian Islands out the left side of the plane. First you'll see the Big Island, then Maui. Fifteen minutes later, see Oahu on the right side of the plane. Waikiki Beach is on the right just before landing. If you are changing planes in Honolulu, also see the brief section about Oahu on about the third page from the end of this paper.

WHERE TO STAY:WHICH SIDE OF MAUI TO STAY ON:

There are two major resort areas on Maui – West and South. The west side includes Lahaina, Kaanapali, Honokowai, Kahana, Napili and Kapalua. The south side includes Wailea and Kihei. I prefer the west (Kaanapali) side because it is more beautiful (lush green mountains), and is very close to Lahaina (fun historic tourist town and boat harbor). However, Wailea has the advantage of slightly less rain in the winter, and is a quieter area than Kaanapali because the major hotels are not quite as close together.

Just north of Kaanapali, there are many smaller condo complexes in Honokowai, Kahana, and Napili. They are less expensive than staying right on Kaanapali Beach, but they are not within walking distance of the big resort hotels and shopping, and some of them do not have air conditioning. Kihei is the major condo area on the south side. Kihei has many family restaurants. Instead of luxury resorts like in Kaanapali and Wailea, Kihei has less expensive condos. These condos are mostly across the street from the beach, and that street tends to be congested with heavy traffic. Traffic is also congested and slow in and around Lahaina (west Maui), especially during rush hour.

CONDO OR HOTEL:

There are about 15 major hotels, and more than 100 condos, for you to pick from on Maui. The advantages of a hotel are: consistent quality of rooms, more elaborate grounds and pools, shops and restaurants in the building, more service (such as room service and bellman service). The advantages of a condo are: more space, larger rooms, kitchen for you to do some of your own cooking, and usually lower prices. Bear in mind that the quality of condo rooms varies widely, both from one condo building to another, and from one unit to another within the same condo building. In addition, some of the cheaper condos do not have air conditioning or daily maid service, so be sure to ask about that. Most condos will not let you reserve a specific room to be sure you are getting one of the nicer units.

Wherever you stay, at the end of your visit you may run into the problem that checkout time is in the morning (often around 11AM), but your flight back to the mainland does not depart from Maui until that evening. If so, ask your hotel or condo whether they have a “courtesy room” where you can shower or change clothes to get ready for your flight out later in the day, after your morning checkout from your own room.

SOME HOTEL & CONDO SUGGESTIONS:

Do not pay “rack rate” (= list price) at any hotel or condo on Maui, or anyplace else! Always ask the hotel or condo, and your travel agent, for discounts, seasonal specials, weekend rates, holiday rates, AAA discount, AARP discount, and any other lower rates. Check with the hotel itself (calling directly to the hotel on Maui), as well as through the hotel chain’s national toll-free phone number. Check that hotel’s (or that hotel chain’s) web site for discounts. Join the hotel chain’s Frequent Guest program (usually free, like airlines’ Frequent Flyer programs), and ask about discounts for members of that program. Ask about package plans that include hotel and rental car and airfare. Also call Pleasant Hawaiian Holidays at 1-800-242-9244 to ask what air/land packages they have available for the hotels and condos you are considering. For special service and help choosing the condo that best matches your own personal needs and budget, book your condo through Kay Ryan (see the paragraph above and email Kay at kay@mauiKay.com). For discounts on many Maui condos, book online from Dave Williams at <http://royalhawaii.com> or email him at info@royalhawaii.com or call him at 1-888-722-6284 and tell him that you heard about his discounts on Jon's Maui Info website.

To check prices at any hotel or condo, use the "Cheap hotel rooms" box half-way down this web page:

For more details about selecting the best hotel or condo for your stay on Maui (including PHOTOS of hotel and condo rooms, buildings, pools and beaches), see the Hotels & Condos section of this Maui website at <http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos>

These are my favorite places to stay on Maui (see below for other choices). The webpage link listed for each of these has more details including pictures of that specific hotel or condo.

Hyatt Regency (808) 661-1234

Best hotel on Kaanapali Beach (my favorite area), with beautiful grounds and great location. Art and rare birds in the lobbies, waterfalls in the pools, rope bridge, children's play pool, great daily buffet breakfast and more.

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/hyatt-maui.htm>

Grand Wailea (808) 875-1234

Best hotel on Maui, with nearly all ocean-view rooms, good service, and super elaborate pools and water slides. However, it is very expensive, and it is in the Wailea area, which I do not like as well as the Kaanapali area.

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/grand-wailea.htm>

Kaanapali Alii (808) 667-1400

Large luxury condo suites (one or two bedrooms) in a great location on Kaanapali Beach. These beautiful condos are expensive, but you get about 1500 square feet in a one-bedroom and about 1800 square feet in a two-bedroom condo.

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/kaanapali-alii.htm>

Sheraton (808) 661-0031

Newest hotel on Kaanapali Beach (my favorite area), completely rebuilt in 1996, a great location at Black Rock. More quiet, but less elaborate pools and so less fun for kids, than the Hyatt and Westin in that same area. The Sheraton also tacks on extra charges, like a resort fee, more expensive parking than the other Maui hotels, and a $50 per night charge if you need to add a rollaway bed in your room. Some of the lanais are very small and don't have space for more than one chair. Some of the rooms & bathrooms are small, and some rooms have only an armoire instead of a closet.

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/sheraton-maui.htm>

Other excellent choices:

Westin (808) 667-2525

Beautiful hotel with elaborate pools. Right in the middle of Kaanapali Beach. Rooms are smaller than at the Hyatt or Sheraton. Rooms in the older of the two buildings have no closet (only an armoire), so ask for a room in the newer building, called the Beach Tower building. (This was the Maui Surf hotel until it was rebuilt and reopened and that newer tower added by Westin in 1987.) Note: this is NOT the same place as the Westin Kaanapali Ocean Resort Villas, which is a new timeshare at a different location.

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/westin-maui.htm>

Whaler (808) 661-4861

Condo buildings on Kaanapali Beach. A little less expensive and a little less luxurious than Kaanapali Alii. Adjacent to Whalers Village shopping center.

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/whaler.htm>

Four Seasons (808) 874-8000

Quiet luxury hotel in Wailea.

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/four-seasons-maui.htm>

Ritz Carlton (808) 669-6200

Quiet, elegant luxury hotel a few miles north of Kaanapali, but not on beach, and more likely to be cloudy or get some rain. Also not much for young children in the Kapalua area.

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/ritz-carlton-maui.htm>

Mahana (808) 661-8751

One of the very few condo buildings where every room is oceanfront, so views are terrific. Studios, one-bedroom and two-bedroom condos (including full kitchens), but no stores or restaurant in the building. Beach and pool are small and simple. About a ten-minute drive from the main Kaanapali resort area or 15 minutes from Lahaina. Built in 1975. You can get a discount on rooms there (and at other Aston properties) by booking through Dave Williams: email to info@royalhawaii.com or see his web site at <http://royalhawaii.com> and tell him you got his name from Jon's Maui Info website.

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/mahana.htm>

Fairmont Kea Lani (808) 875-4100

Well-appointed all-suites hotel in Wailea.

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/fairmont-kea-lani-maui.htm>

If you want someplace less expensive than those above, there are dozens of other good condos and hotels to choose from. They are less luxurious, or older, or not in as good locations, as those listed above. But they offer good value, and best of all, you are still on Maui! Here are just a few of the possibilities:

Kaanapali Beach Hotel (808) 661-0011 or toll-free 1-800-262-8450

Same great location as the Sheraton, right on Kaanapali Beach, but about half the price of the Sheraton because it's much older. Wonderful friendly service. Free shows. Hawaiian atmosphere and décor.

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/kaanapali-beach-hotel.htm>

Maui Kaanapali Villas (808) 667-7791 or Aston toll-free 1-800-922-7866

Another way to spend less money and still be near Kaanapali Beach. It's on the other side of the Black Rock hill from the main Kaanapali Beach hotels, so a much longer walk to all of the resorts, shopping and restaurants. But its beach is less crowded, and they have both hotel rooms and condo units available. Built about 1963, so much older than the more expensive resorts like the Hyatt.

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/maui-kaanapali-villas.htm>

Papakea condos (808) 669-4848

On the ocean, near a beach, a couple miles north of Kaanapali. Studios, one-bedroom and two-bedroom condos. Studio units here cost about one-third of the price of the big resort beach hotels (Sheraton, Grand, Hyatt, etc.).

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/papakea.htm>

For more details and many additional hotel-condo choices, plus photos, see the Hotels-Condos section of this website at www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos

The excellent book, Maui: The Most Complete Guide to Family Fun and Adventure by Aluli, can help you decide where to stay, especially if you want information about condos and smaller places that are not listed on my website. That book has information about each of 200 hotels, condos, and B&B's on Maui. It includes descriptions and toll-free reservation numbers, though the rates in the book are out of date. More information about this and other Maui guidebooks is on my books page at www.mauihawaii.org/mauibooks.htm

You can get a free color brochure with small photos and basic information about 100 of the hotels and condos on Maui from Maui Accommodations Guide at 1-800-221-6118 or www.mauiaccommodations.com

Major hotels (listed in south to north order)

Name	Location	Year Opened	# Rooms	Phone (808)	Comments
Makena Beach	Wailea	1986	300	874-1111	Former Prince. Isolated
Fairmont Kea Lani	Wailea	1991	450	875-4100	Strange appearance, all suites
Four Seasons	Wailea	1990	380	874-8000	Elegant quiet luxury
Grand Wailea	Wailea	1991	787	875-1234	Fantastic grounds & pools
Wailea Marriott	Wailea	1976	546	879-1922	Former InterContinental & Outrigger
Hyatt Regency	Kaanapali	1980	815	661-1234	Best hotel on Kaanapali Beach
Westin	Kaanapali	1987	761	667-2525	Elaborate pools, small rooms
Kaanapali Beach	Kaanapali	1964	430	661-0011	Very Hawaiian
Sheraton	Kaanapali	1963	510	661-0031	All newly rebuilt 1996
Royal Lahaina	Kaanapali	1962	540	661-3611	Old but newly renovated
Kaanapali Villas	Kaanapali	1963	266	667-7791	Both hotel and condo units
Ritz Carlton	Kapalua	1992	463	669-6200	Elegant luxury, poor location

THE FIRST THINGS YOU NEED TO KNOW:

WEATHER:

Weather in the resort areas of Maui (Wailea and Kaanapali) is warm all year round. Winter high around 81; low around 64; ocean water 75. Summer high about 88, low about 69, ocean water 79. The most rain is in December and January, while the least rain is in June through September. When it rains in the resort areas of Maui, it sometimes only lasts 15 minutes, though it can rain all day in the winter. However, the weather can be completely different on another section of the same island: each island has a windward side that gets most of the rain. On the chance that you might get a rainy day, you could bring a small umbrella or light raincoat. Call 808-877-5111 for Maui weather. If it is raining in your hotel area on Kaanapali Beach and you want to find a sunny beach, try going to Kamaole Sands III Beach in the south part of Kihei, where it rains much less. If it is raining even in Kihei and Wailea, go further south, past the Makena Beach Hotel, to Big Beach (Makena Beach Park), where it practically never rains. (Notice the cactuses beside the road.)

See the Weather page on this (Jon's Maui) web site, for a detailed chart of the high, low, water temperature, and inches of rain, for each month of the year. www.mauihawaii.org/maui-weather.htm

Hawaii weather web site: www.hawaiiweathertoday.com

The sun is intense here at about 21-degree latitude (similar to the latitude of Mexico City), so use at least a 15-rated sunscreen on all exposed skin every day, even if you're just going shopping or exploring.

DRESS (WHAT TO WEAR):

Dress is very informal resort clothes everywhere. Guys do not need a tie or jacket in even the fanciest restaurants (but slacks and a shirt with a collar are advisable). More information in the clothing question on my FAQ page at www.mauihawaii.org/faqs.htm

TOURS & ACTIVITIES:

Your hotel has a concierge or tour desk to help you with directions, maps, and tour & activity reservations. You can also use the tour desk in any other hotel, and the maps you get from your rent-a-car company. You can call or go to make your own tour & activity reservations with Barefoot Discount Tours (661-8889 in Lahaina), or Activity Warehouse (667-4000).

For information about discounts and advance reservations for the activities for your Maui visit (luau, boats, tours, helicopter, whale-watch, horseback, etc.), see the Maui Activities section of this website at www.mauihawaii.org/mauiactivities.htm

When considering which tour company to use for tours that go by van, such as the ride to the top of Haleakala or the ride to Hana (if you don't want to drive them yourself), bear this in mind: cheaper tours often use bigger vans with more people on your tour. If you pay more, you can usually get a smaller van with a smaller tour group, so you get more personalized service. Temptation Tours (877-8888) has comfortable vans with only 6-8 people, so it is more luxurious but more expensive. Polynesian Adventure (877-4242) has 25-passenger vans and is often the cheapest of the tour companies.

When you are in the city of Lahaina, there are activity-sales booths on the main street (Front Street) where you will be shopping, but be sure to avoid the "discount" tour sellers who require you to attend a time-share sales presentation. Do NOT attend any time-share sales presentation under any circumstances! For more about why to avoid timeshare sales presentations, see the last question and answer on the FAQ page of this website at www.mauihawaii.org/faqs.htm

You can hire a personal tour guide just for you, by calling Guides of Maui (formerly called Rent-A-Local) on Maui at 877-4060. www.guidesofmaui.com

For a guide to take you hiking in great locations you are not likely to find on your own, see www.mauibackroads.com and tell Erik there that you got his name from Jon's Maui website.

LEIS:

I know it's disappointing, but nobody will greet you with a lei on your arrival, unless you have paid for it in advance as part of your tour package. So buy a lei for yourself. They are available in shops at the airport (most expensive place to buy anything), or at florists, less expensive at grocery stores (any Safeway or Times Market), and even cheaper at Wal-Mart and Kmart and Costco (all near the airport).

Make your fresh flower leis last longer by asking for a plastic bag to put them in overnight when you buy them. Each night, soak the lei in cold water for 30 minutes, shake off the excess water, then put it in a plastic bag, blow the bag up with air, and tie it shut. If there is a refrigerator in your room, put the lei in the plastic bag (tied shut) in the refrigerator. If you don't have a refrigerator, put a couple ice cubes in the plastic bag with the lei overnight. If you couldn't get a plastic bag when you bought the leis, soak them in cold water in the sink in your hotel room overnight (add a couple ice cubes).

THE VIEW OF WHALES AND ISLANDS:

Stand on the beach in back of your hotel or condo and watch for whales (winter only). You may see a "blow" that looks like a gray puff lasting only a couple seconds; or you may see a black hump briefly surface, followed immediately by a split tail diving back into the water. From Wailea, Kaanapali, or Kihei, you are looking west. If you are on Kaanapali Beach, the island you see straight out is Lanai, about nine miles away, formerly covered with Dole pineapple plantations, now having two luxury hotels. The island you see far to your right, is Molokai, about 25 miles away, a mostly undeveloped island with two hotels, mule rides, and a former leprosy colony. If you could see through the far-left tip of Molokai, Honolulu (on the island of Oahu) would be 85 miles away from Kaanapali Beach, to the west-northwest. If you are at a Wailea hotel, instead of Kaanapali Beach, then the larger of the two islands you see is Kahoolawe (used by the U.S. Navy for bombing practice from 1941 to 1990), and the tinier island you see just two and a half miles away is Molokini, a crescent sliver of the top edge of an old volcano crater. You are 2,397 miles from the west coast of the mainland United States.

WHY YOU SHOULD TELL THEM WHERE YOU HEARD ABOUT THEM:

When you go to restaurants, sights, shows, or shops, that you heard about on this web site, you can get the best service by telling them you heard about them on Jon's Maui Vacations website. Why? Because you only go there once, but the readers of this web site represent many Maui visitors. The people in these restaurants and other businesses know that I will hear about the kind of service they give you. They know that I will only continue to recommend them if they give great service to the people who read about them here and who report their experiences back to me by email and by filling out the questionnaire at the end of this paper. So tell your waiter or waitress, tell the person at the check-in stand in the restaurant, tell the person who answers the phone when you call to make your reservation, tell the manager or chef at the restaurant if you see him/her, tell the guide on your boat or van tour, tell the salesperson at the shop, tell the person who collects your money at the show, tell the person where you pay admission to the sights, tell them all! Tell them you heard about them on Jon's Maui Vacations website.

I do not accept any money to make my web pages about any restaurants, hotels or attractions. I only mention places I know from my own experience and the experiences of people like you who tell me about your trip to Maui. I write these pages because I love Maui and I want you to have the best possible experience there.

If you write about your Maui trip or hotel or condo on Facebook or TripAdvisor or other websites, please mention that you got helpful information to plan your trip from Jon's Maui Vacations website at mauihawaii.org. I also appreciate you telling your friends about this Jon's Maui Vacations website.

OTHER STUFF YOU NEED TO KNOW:

Do not use the road around the north side of West Maui to get from the airport to your hotel in Kapalua, Napili, Kahana, or Kaanapali, even though your GPS may tell you that is the shortest route. It is a very narrow and difficult and dangerous winding mountain road. You must instead use the road around the south side of West Maui.

Hawaiian words and place-names:

There are only 12 letters in the Hawaiian alphabet (A E I O U H K L M N P W). Actually there are two more sort-of letters in the Hawaiian alphabet: the okina (which looks like an apostrophe and creates a guttural break in the pronunciation of a word) and the kahako (symbolized by a straight line over any vowel, which elongates the vowel). Usually there are no silent letters, so pronounce every letter in each word.

If you get tired of nature and want to see a theater play or concert, call 242-7469 for the schedule at the Maui Arts and Cultural Center in Kahului (shows in the 1200-seat Castle Theater). Free tours on Wednesdays.

www.mauiarts.org

While driving in your rented car, flip through the stations to find Hawaiian music to listen to on the radio. Try FM 91.5, 93.5, 102.3, or 105.1, and AM 900.

Two munchies to try on Maui:

Kitchen-Cooked brand Maui Potato Chips

Taro Chips (like Potato Chips)

When leaving Maui, sit on the left side of the plane, for a possible view of Kaanapali Beach just after takeoff.

Do not take the discount tour offers from timeshare vendors. They put you through a convincing-sounding sales talk, to try to sell you extremely overpriced timeshares. For more on TimeShares, see www.mauihawaii.org/time-shares.htm

PLEASE SEND ME A POSTCARD FROM MAUI. Address it to:

Jon Blum
P.O. Box 2691
Farmington Hills, MI 48333

I would also appreciate it if you could fill out the questionnaire on the last page, and mail it to me. Or email your experiences to me at jon@mauihawaii.org and include the word Maui in the subject line. THANKS!

SIGHTS AND ACTIVITIES:

YOUR FIRST DAY ON MAUI

Pick up lots of free brochures about activities, sights, tours, restaurants, etc., in brochure racks at the airport (in the baggage claim area), in your hotel lobby, at shopping centers (Lahaina Center, Kahana Gateway, Azeka Place, Foodland-Kihei, or others), or on the streets of Lahaina or Kihei. These great brochures, such as Maui Gold, This Week Maui, 101 Things to Do, and Maui Activities & Attractions, are full of coupons and information about Maui activities.

Stock up on soda, chips, sunscreen, beach chairs, and other essentials at Safeway grocery store (Lahaina Cannery or Piilani Village Kihei), Times Market (Honokowai Marketplace or Kihei), Wal-Mart or Kmart or Costco (Kahului, near airport), Longs Drugstore (Lahaina Cannery or Kihei or Kahului), ABC (many shopping areas), or Whalers General Store (in many strip malls). My wife and I did a price check on a dozen common items, and found grocery store prices on Maui are an average of 40% higher than in Michigan!

LIFE'S A BEACH

When I think of Maui I think of scenery. But when most people think of Maui, they think of beaches. Here's what you need to know: All beaches in Hawaii are public. You can, and should, try out several beaches while you are on Maui. Don't only go to the beach in front of your own hotel or condo. Each beach is different and each beach is beautiful. Here are some beaches I suggest.

Kapalua Beach was rated as the most beautiful beach in the world a few years ago. That was before they built expensive condos that block some of the view, but Kapalua Bay is still worth seeing. Kapalua means two borders (or more figuratively "arms embracing the sea") which refers to the fingers of lava that reach out on both sides of this bay and block the strong waves from disturbing swimmers.

Kaanapali Beach is the "in place" to be on Maui, the place where the action is. Three great resort hotels (Sheraton, Westin, Hyatt), one very good older hotel (Kaanapali Beach Hotel), two major condos (Kaanapali Alii, Whaler), a shopping center (Whalers Village), and three very good restaurants (Cane & Taro, Hula Grill, Leilani's) are located on this beach. There's a great snorkel spot at Black Rock (in front of the Sheraton). There are booths to rent all sorts of water equipment, and you can even get some boat tours on catamarans that pick you up right on the beach. Kaanapali Beach is my favorite place to stay on Maui. More about Kaanapali Beach, including pictures, on the Kaanapali Beach page of this Maui website at www.mauihawaii.org/kaanapali-beach.htm

Baby Beach has much calmer waters than most other beaches, because an offshore breakwater blocks many of the big waves from reaching the shore. This makes it a good place for children to go in the ocean, though even here they of course need adult supervision. Baby Beach is in the north part of Lahaina. Park on Kai Pali Street, just off of Front Street.

Olowalu is a popular snorkeling beach. It's south of Lahaina on Route 30, at Mile Marker 14.

Kamaole III Beach is the best beach in Kihei. Kihei is a town crowded with condos, most of which are across the street from the beaches, rather than being ocean-front. It's a good place for families on a budget that does not allow staying at the big resort hotels. More about the three Kamaole Beaches in Kihei, including pictures, is on the Kamaole Beaches page of this Maui website at www.mauihawaii.org/kamaole-beaches-parks-kihei.htm

Keawakapu Beach is a less crowded beach where Kihei meets Wailea.

Big Beach is also called Makena Beach or Oneloa Beach. You've got to see it, because this beautiful area is the last large undeveloped beach on the sunny side of Maui. It's ¾ of a mile long, with not one hotel or condo in sight. It's south of the Makena Beach Hotel (the southernmost hotel at the end of Wailea).

Ho'okipa Beach Park is the place to watch windsurfing. (The waves are too rough for swimming.) It's on Route 36 just past the town of Paia, on the north shore.

Never leave anything of value in your car or on the beach, since theft from beaches and rental cars does occur. Most Maui beaches have no lifeguards. Whether they are present or not, swimming in the ocean can be dangerous. You could drown. You could get cut by coral. Something could bite you. Swim at your own risk. (My lawyer made me say that.)

ROAD TO HANA (ONE DAY)

The road to Hana, and the crater at the top of Haleakala, are probably the two most famous sights of Maui. You can drive the road to Hana yourself, or take a tour in a van. It is a long and difficult drive on a narrow winding mountain road. If you prefer to have a tour van take you, you can sign up at your hotel or at any tour booth to take the all-day ride to and from Hana. Whether on your own or on a tour, you will see the gorgeous scenery of the rainforest, including many beautiful waterfalls of various shapes and sizes along the mountainsides. If you drive yourself, leave your hotel by 8 A.M., and take a picnic lunch. If you are staying on West Maui, I recommend the "Hana Box Lunch" which you can get at CJ's Deli in the Fairway Shops just outside of Kaanapali (667-0968). Allow six hours to get to Hana (with stops to see scenery), and three hours to return (without stops). It's 81 miles from Kaanapali; the hard part (the Hana Road) has 617 curves and 56 one-lane bridges. If you are prone to motion sickness, do not read (not even the map) in your car or tour van. You must drive back from Hana the same way you came, NOT by the unpaved desolate southern route. Hana itself is just a quaint small village, isolated from the rest of Maui by the mountain road. There is nothing much to do there. The point of this trip is the sights on the road to Hana, rather than Hana itself. More info and photos of the Road to Hana are at www.mauihawaii.org/sights/road-to-hana.htm

On the way to Hana, just past Mile Marker 16, turn left at the sign to Kanae, for close-up views of waves on lava rocks. Stop near the end of that peninsula to pick up a couple loaves of the world's best banana bread, at the Kanae Landing Fruit Stand.

If you have extra time, you can drive another 40 minutes beyond Hana to the beautiful Pools of Ohe'o, also called Ohe'o Gulch and Palikea Stream. (This area was formerly called the Seven Sacred Pools, but there are more than seven and they are not sacred, since that was just a marketing term made up by a Hana hotel worker in the 1950's.) There are several lovely waterfalls cascading into the series of natural pools, working their way down the mountain slope. A little further beyond here is Charles Lindbergh's grave at Palapala Hoomau Church, but it is not visible from the road and is difficult to find.

If you drive to Hana (rather than taking a van tour), be SURE to take along the excellent "Hana CD Guide." Call 572-0550 the day before you go, for directions on where to get it (at their booth by the Shell station on Dairy Road in Kahului, which you will pass on your way to the start of your trip to Hana). This is an audio CD that tells you what to see along the way. You play the CD in your car while you drive to Hana. You will see twice as many wonderful sights if you take this guide recording along. Another excellent CD to play on this trip is called R2H. Most other Hana CD's, other than those specific two, are not nearly as good. Another good choice is to rent the GyPSy Guide, which is a GPS device that knows where you are as you drive the Road to Hana (or elsewhere on Maui), and automatically plays recorded information about each sight as you drive near each area. See www.gypsyguide.com/maui for where to get it. An excellent guidebook that includes color maps & photos, and describes where to find specific waterfalls and parks and scenic lookouts along the way, is Maui Revealed. For more details about this and other Maui guidebooks, see the Books section of this website at www.mauihawaii.org/mauibooks.htm

The day before you drive to Hana, call the Maui police at 244-6400 (or the Hana Branch at 248-8311) to find out whether there will be major road construction delays on the road to Hana.

LAHAINA (ONE DAY)

If you haven't spent a day in Lahaina, you haven't really been to Maui. From Kaanapali Beach, turn right onto the main road, drive for eight minutes (four miles), and go into Lahaina on the right. From Wailea or Kihei, take Route 31 north to the central valley, then Route 310 across the southern edge of the valley, then Route 30 west and north to Lahaina (about 50 minutes drive from Wailea, but certainly worth the trip).

Lahaina is an old whaling port and tourist town loaded with many shops and restaurants, plus a busy little boat harbor and lots of historical buildings. Spend the day walking through Lahaina, shopping and snacking. Rest under the giant Banyan tree (planted in 1873) at the south end of the shopping strip. Stop in at the Lahaina Visitors Center in the Old Courthouse behind the Banyan Tree. See the Pioneer Inn, the original Lahaina hotel, in use since the whaling days of the last century. (The ten rooms at the Pioneer Inn were the only accommodations in West Maui until the first hotel on Kaanapali Beach was built in 1962.) Buy a Maui T-shirt. Visit Dan's Greenhouse (upstairs, across Front Street from the Banyan Tree) to see the live parrots, piglets, and plants for sale. In my experience, the most interesting shops to see are on Front Street, but the best prices are off of Front street. I found the most choices of souvenirs, Hawaiian clothing, candy, and other items at Hilo Hattie's (667-7911) in the Lahaina Center (behind the Hard Rock Café at the north end of the shopping area).

Have a casual supper in Lahaina. For the best food in Lahaina, I recommend Pacific O or I'o in the 505 shopping center, two blocks south of the banyan tree. Also good (but crowded) is Kimo's restaurant, which is on the more central part of Front Street. If you're looking for something less expensive, I suggest Lahaina Pizza Company 661-0700, or Bubba Gump 661-3111. Lists of menu items, and photos of the food, for these and many other Maui restaurants are on the Restaurants pages of this Maui website, all linked from <http://www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants.htm>

IAO VALLEY (HALF OR FULL DAY)

The Iao Needle is a 2,250-foot tall rock formation surrounded by lush green mountains, in the center of the west half of Maui. The road into the Iao Valley begins in the center of downtown Wailuku. Take an umbrella, since there is often a light steady drizzle there. Walk along the path from the parking lot. There are great views from the top of the walkway, and a lovely stream to stroll by at the bottom of the walkway. More info and photos of Iao Valley are at www.mauihawaii.org/sights/iao-valley.htm

There are four sights to see on the road to Iao Valley, before or after you go to the Iao Needle. I am listing them below in the order you would find them on your way OUT of the Iao Valley.

Hawaii Nature Center at 875 Iao Valley Road (phone 244-6500). Modern interactive science museum, with exhibits about Hawaiian flora and fauna. Admission charge. Guided hikes available. Open 10 AM – 4 PM. On the right side of the road, as you drive away from Iao Needle.

www.hawaiinaturecenter.org

Keponiwai Heritage Gardens, adjacent to the Hawaii Nature Center. Garden and architectural displays from eight cultures that contributed to modern Maui: Chinese, Japanese, New England, Portuguese, Native Hawaiian, Korean, Puerto Rican and Filipino. Free. Open 7 AM to 7 PM.

www.hawaiiweb.com/maui/html/sites/keponiwai_park_heritage_gardens.html

Tropical Gardens of Maui (phone 244-3085). Beautiful gardens with gorgeous flowers and a wide variety of labeled trees from various tropical climates throughout the world. Owned and maintained with Aloha by Bernie and Andy Graham. Admission charge. Allow at least 30 minutes for a self-guided stroll through the gardens. Closed Sundays. On the left side of the road, as you drive out of Iao Valley. Wear mosquito repellent. See their web site at www.tropicalgardensofmaui.com for photos and information about the gardens. You can even order plants or cut flowers from their web site, and have them shipped to your home, so you can enjoy Maui flowers back on the mainland.

Bailey House Museum (phone 244-3326) run by the Maui Historical Society. Ancient Hawaiian artifacts, plus displays about the missionary times of the 1800's on Maui. Could be boring if you are not into this aspect of history. Admission charge. Open 10-4 Monday-Saturday. On the right side, just before you re-enter downtown Wailuku.

www.mauiuseum.org

WEST MAUI (FULL DAY)

On your way to or from the Iao Needle, or on a separate day, stop at the Maui Tropical Plantation, on the Honoapiilani Highway in Waikapu. Call 244-7643, or ask at your hotel for easy directions (it's on a main road). This is a constructed site to show and teach tourists about Hawaiian agriculture. There is a tram tour showing you banana trees, sugar cane, guavas, pineapples, Macadamia nut trees, etc., plus a tourist shop and snack bar. It is interesting and modern, but commercial and artificial. It is more like Disney's Jungle Boat Cruise than like the more natural beauty you see on the rest of Maui.

On your way back from the Iao Needle or the Maui Tropical Plantation, turn right from the main road (just south of Maui Tropical Plantation), to drive uphill into the Waikapu golf courses. The view from the clubhouse area is beautiful, and includes the entire central valley of Maui, plus both the north (Kahului) and south (Maalaea) bays. The clubhouse is an interesting building designed by Frank Lloyd Wright. If the road to that Waikapu clubhouse at the top is closed, you can get most of the same view from the adjacent Kahili (formerly Sandalwood) golf clubhouse, or just from the road leading to the Sandalwood clubhouse.

Drive south along the main road after leaving the Iao Needle or Maui Tropical Plantation or Waikapu golf courses. Stop at the whale watching lookout point along the side of the road just after you get back to the ocean area. Look for whales (winter only). On an exceptionally clear day, you can see the snow-capped peak of one of the two mountains on the Big Island of Hawaii (120 miles away) in the distant haze, behind the southern tip of Maui, from that scenic lookout. As you continue your drive toward Lahaina and Kaanapali, you will wind around the mountain on the south coast of West Maui. Notice the old Lahaina Road, above the current road, demarcated by an old stone wall. The current road you are driving on was built in 1951. Continue along the road around the south edge of west Maui, and watch for rainbows (in the late afternoon) in fields and valleys on the right side (opposite from the ocean side of the road). The flat-topped piles of rocks you see in the fields on the mountain side of the road here are just stacks of rocks that workers made when they cleared the fields.

If you haven't already seen Lahaina, read the section about it above and stop off there now. Otherwise, pass Lahaina, continue 5-10 minutes, and turn left into the Kaanapali Beach area. There are several hotels in a row, starting with the Hyatt Regency on the south end. Walk through the Hyatt grounds to see the Oriental art, live animals, and pools with waterfalls (see the section about the Hyatt above). Next take a stroll down the beach to see the great pools in the back of the Marriott timeshare, and then the spectacular multi-level pools and waterfalls in the back of the Westin Hotel. All beaches in Hawaii are public, so you don't have to be staying at any of these hotels to spend an hour or two walking along the beautiful Kaanapali beach and seeing the islands of Lanai (straight out) and Molokai (on the far right) across the ocean, plus the poolsides of all the hotels. Shop at the Whalers Village shopping center in the middle of this row of hotels. Good places for lunch in Whalers Village Shopping Center are Cane & Taro, Hula Grill, and Leilani's. Continue your walk to the Sheraton Hotel at Black Rock, where the snorkelers are watching the fish and vice versa.

See the RESTAURANT list below, and select one of the restaurants listed in Whalers Village for supper. I recommend Hula Grill, either the casual section on the sandy floor, or the fine-dining covered section.

It is possible to drive all the way around West Maui because the road is paved all the way. However, I do not recommend driving the northern coast, because the winding mountain road is VERY narrow there, and can also be blocked by falling rocks or by rain. It takes one hour and 22 minutes to drive 34 miles from Kaanapali to Wailuku via the northern route, or just 35 minutes to drive the 24 miles from Kaanapali to Wailuku via the normal excellent roads of the southern route (assuming no traffic congestion).

WHALE WATCHING (HALF DAY)

The humpback whales start arriving in Hawaii at the end of November, and most are gone by the beginning of April. The number of whales are at their peak from January through March (especially during February). During those months, you can see whales almost every day from your hotel lanai (balcony) if you have a good ocean view. There are about 7500 humpback whales in the North Pacific Ocean, about 5000 of them come to Maui at some time during the winter, and about 1000 are around Maui and the nearby islands at any one time in the peak months of winter. As of 2008, the number of whales that come to Hawaii in the winter was increasing by 7% per year, so the number is expected to double by about 2018. Humpback whales come to Maui every winter, and so should we!

For a chance at a closer look, ask at your hotel or at an activity sales booth, to find out the most convenient time and place to go out on a boat to see whales and dolphins blowing and jumping in the ocean (winter only). Boats leave from Lahaina and from Maalaea. For more info about whale watch boats, including a comparison of some of the companies that offer that activity, see the Whale Watch page in the Activities section of this website, at www.mauihawaii.org/maui-activities/whale-watch.htm

People often ask me where they can "swim with the dolphins." The answer is not on Maui. Your best chance is at Sea Life Park or at the Kahala Mandarin Oriental hotel, both on the island of Oahu. They also offer dolphin encounters at the Hilton Waikaloa Hotel on the Big Island of Hawaii, but it's by lottery there and a lot more people ask for it than they have slots for, so most people do not get to do it there. On Maui, you can take a boat ride out into the ocean, where you might see dolphins, and occasionally you can see them from the shore. But you won't get to swim with them.

SNORKELING (HALF DAY)

There are risks to snorkeling, as with any ocean activity, but it's great fun. Rent your snorkel gear at Boss Frog's or Maui Dive Shop or Snorkel Bob's for about half the price they charge at the big hotels. Several branch stores of each are all over Maui, mostly at small shopping centers. If you've never snorkeled, ask about lessons at your hotel. A good place for your first snorkel is by Black Rock, next to the Sheraton Hotel. (Park at Whalers Village shopping center half a mile away, cheaper than parking at the Sheraton.) A good place to take children for their first snorkel is Baby Beach, in Lahaina, because the water is usually calm at that beach. (Baby Beach is in the north part of Lahaina. Park on Kai Pali street, just off of Front Street.) Other top snorkel spots on Maui are Mile Marker 14 (just south of Olowalu), Kapalua Bay, Honolua Bay, Makena Landing, and (a boat ride away) the island of Molokini. Ask for a free snorkel map at Maui Dive Shop or call them at 1-800-542-3483, or check out their web site at www.mauidiveshop.com.

If you want help with your snorkeling, and a boat ride and food too, you can take a half-day snorkel cruise. You can get on a catamaran right on Kaanapali Beach (or Lahaina Harbor or Maalaea Harbor), sail for an hour or so, and stop off at a couple good snorkel spots that are deeper and have more fish than you would see snorkeling from shore. For details, ask at the activity tour desk at your hotel, or book the cruise at Barefoot Discount Tours (661-8889 in Lahaina), or Activity Warehouse (667-4000). More info, and a comparison of several of the companies offering snorkel cruises, is on the Snorkeling page in the Activities section of this website at www.mauihawaii.org/maui-activities/snorkeling.htm

For discounts on snorkeling cruises, whale watches, tours, luaus and other Maui activities, see <http://mauifun.net>

HALEAKALA CRATER (HALF OR FULL DAY)

Haleakala (elevation 10,023 feet) is the mountain that makes up all of the east half of Maui. The crater at the top of this volcano is one of Maui's most incredible sights.

The view at the top of Haleakala is beautiful at any time of the day, so you don't have to go only at sunrise. You'll see the multicolored volcano crater (that last erupted in 1790) and the views of Maui's central valley. It is much colder at this elevation than at the beach, so take along heavy clothes, sweater, coat, scarf, gloves, etc. Call 572-4400 for Haleakala National Park info or see www.nps.gov/hale. Park admission $10 per car. Free ranger talks in the summit building at 9:30, 10:30, and 11:30 AM.

The crater is seven and a half miles long, two and a half miles wide, and 3000 feet deep. You will look down on the clouds, and see the "Big Island" of Hawaii in the distance across the ocean. (The left mountain is Mauna Kea 80 miles away, and the right mountain is Mauna Loa 100 miles away.)

If you want to make an all-day trip to Haleakala, take along a picnic lunch. If you are staying on West Maui, I recommend the "Hana Box Lunch" which you can get at CJ's Deli in the Fairway Shops just outside of Kaanapali (667-0968). Eat that lunch at the Lavender Garden in Upcountry along the way up. Or on your way up for a mid-day (or sunset) trip to the top of Haleakala, stop off at the Sunrise Protea Farm (just after you turn from Route 377 onto Route 378) to buy some snacks to eat during the drive or at the top. There are no stores beyond this point (about half way up). They've got muffins, cookies, sandwiches, fruit, pop, and ice cream. (Shop closes at 4 PM.)

On the way up or down from the crater, stop at the pull-over lookout points for glorious views of Maui's central valley. At the top, park in all three parking lots and get out for each of the different views of the crater from each vantage point. On the way out of the park, stop at Hosmer Grove (just outside of the National Park entrance) for a walk through a beautiful small forest.

More info and photos about the trip to Haleakala crater are at www.mauihawaii.org/sights/haleakala.htm

Sunrise on Haleakala:

Sign up at your hotel, or at any activity sales booth, for a tour to the top of Haleakala, leaving between 3 and 4 A.M.! You will ride in the dark up to the top of this huge dormant volcano that makes up the bulk of east Maui. On your way up to the top for sunrise, stop at one of the several pullover lookout points about half way up, and look at the beautiful stars in the pitch dark skies. Wear heavy sweaters, winter coats, scarf, gloves, hat, and every warm piece of clothing you have because the temperature two miles up is 30 to 40 degrees at sunrise, there is no heat in the observation building, and you will be out in the cold for about two hours. Also take along the blanket from your hotel room, to wrap yourself in. (You can drive up there yourself, but I don't recommend the unfamiliar mountain road in the dark. It's 64 miles from Kaanapali Beach and takes about 2½ hours.) At the top, before sunrise, it is darker than you ever saw, and you will see more stars than you have ever seen. Sunrise is indescribably beautiful, with the sky slowly turning various colors, and the sun coming up over the ocean and clouds and volcano crater below you. After sunrise, your tour may stop at a couple observation points around the crater. Then you drive down the mountain in daylight and get great views of the central Maui valley below. When you get back to your hotel, go back to sleep until mid-afternoon. There is a small chance of overcast clouds at the top of Haleakala that could ruin the view some days. Call 808-877-5111 for Maui weather. If you are from the east coast or the midwest, you might want to plan this sunrise trip to Haleakala for your first or second morning on Maui, when you will find yourself waking up very early because of the time-zone change.

UPCOUNTRY (FULL DAY)

"Upcountry" is the part of Maui on the valley side of Haleakala. It includes a few small towns (Makawao, Pukalani, Haliimaile, Kula), gardens, ranches, the beginning of the road to the summit, and incredible views of the central valley of Maui. Because of the elevation, it is a little cooler in Upcountry than at the beach. It takes about an hour to drive to Upcountry from the resort areas of Kaanapali or Wailea.

Makawao is a small paniolo (Hawaiian cowboy) town with several shops, and small art galleries highlighting local artists. See glass blowing 10:30-4:00 most days at Hot Island Glass at 3620 Baldwin Avenue (call 572-4527 to confirm). You can eat at Casanova's Italian Restaurant (572-0220) or the Makawao Steak House (572-8711).

The best food in Upcountry is at the Haliimaile General Store (572-2666). It's open for both lunch and dinner weekdays, but only for dinner on weekends. There is also good food at the Kula Lodge (878-1535), half way up the mountain, and you get a great view of the central valley from there.

There is another garden in Upcountry that is open to the public, in addition to the lavender garden discussed below. The Kula Botanical Garden (878-1715) costs $10 and is open from 9 AM to 4 PM every day. It has a one-hour stroll through a garden with some flowers and a great variety of plants plus a few birds and a koi fishpond.

As you continue driving further through Upcountry, stop for a cinnamon roll at Grandma's Coffee House in Keokea. Then pass the Ulupalakua Ranch, and stop at the Tedeschi Vineyards (878-6058) for a free tour and wine tasting. (Tours twice a day, at 10:30 and 1:30.) www.mauiwine.com

After you look at the view down to Wailea and Kihei from the Tedeschi Vineyard, it's time to turn around and go back the way you came. (If you continue around the south side of Haleakala, you will get to a section with no paved road. Do not drive there.)

GRAND WAILEA HOTEL

If money is no object, you should stay a few days at the Grand Wailea Resort (875-1234). This spectacular hotel, opened in 1991, has facilities superior to any of the other wonderful hotels on Maui. Your experience begins with a lei greeting, free drink, and personal introduction upon your arrival for checkin. The building and grounds are gorgeous, filled with art and flowers. Most of the 787 rooms have ocean views. The multiple connecting pools have slides and water elevator and caves like you will find no place else. The 1,200 employees are friendly and anxious to please you. If you don't want to spend the money to stay at this resort, at least take a walk around the grounds and see it. (No, you can't use the pools if you are not staying at this hotel.)

More about this hotel, including photos, at www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/grand-wailea.htm

HYATT REGENCY HOTEL (ONE MORNING)

If you are staying in a hotel on Kaanapali Beach, you are within a mile of the Hyatt. If you are staying in Wailea, you have to drive 36 miles to Kaanapali Beach. It's certainly worth the trip to see the Hyatt and the other Kaanapali resorts.

The Hyatt Regency Maui has a buffet breakfast every morning (not just on Sundays like some of the other hotels). The brunch is in the Swan Court Restaurant, in the Hyatt (phone 661-1234). Stuff yourself on all-you-can-eat omelets or pancakes, papaya, melons, muffins, cakes, pineapple, fresh fruit, bacon, eggs, crepes, juice, etc. Then wander around this beautiful hotel (opened in 1980) and see the large swimming pools with bar behind waterfall, penguins and parrots in the lobby, flamingos and flowers and exotic plants out back, and expensive oriental art all over the place.

More about this hotel, including photos, at www.mauihawaii.org/hotels-condos/hyatt-maui.htm

MAUI OCEAN CENTER

This excellent aquarium opened in 1998 at the south end of Maui's central valley. It takes about two hours to tour the exhibits about Maui's sea life, including live fish, sharks, turtles, rays, and others. Ask about the AAA discount on admission if you are an AAA member. Also good Seascape Restaurant open for lunch only. Call 270-7000 for information, or go to www.mauihawaii.org/sights/aquarium.htm

GOLF

I don't play golf, so I have no personal experience with the sixteen beautiful (and expensive) golf courses on Maui. However, a friend of mine who plays golf says that the best golf course on Maui is the Plantation Course at Kapalua. He says second-best is the Bay Course, also at Kapalua. A close third best is the Makena course. He says the Kaanapali golf courses are not as challenging. There are also much less expensive Maui golf courses in the non-tourist areas. All of Maui's golf courses are discussed in more detail on the Golf page of this website at www.mauihawaii.org/golf.htm

There is less rain in Wailea and Makena than in Kapalua and Kaanapali. So if it is too windy or too rainy to play golf at the Kapalua courses, you may find better weather by driving 60 minutes (from Kaanapali) to play the Makena course, or one of the three Wailea courses (Emerald is the most scenic and prettiest, compared to the Blue and the Gold).

You must have reservations at all of these popular courses, especially for the early morning tee times. You can make reservations for the Kapalua courses up to 25 days in advance, by calling (808) 669-8044. Call early in the morning for the best choices, since they start answering the phone at 6 AM Hawaii time. If you're playing at the Wailea courses, the phone number for reservations is (808) 875-5111; and for Makena it's (808) 879-3344 (reserve those tee times up to 30 days in advance).

You don't have to stay in a Kapalua hotel to play golf at the Kapalua courses, or in Wailea to play the Wailea courses: you can stay anywhere and play golf anywhere. However, you do get a discount on golf at the course affiliated with the hotel you stay at. Another way to get a lower price on golf, is to start in the mid-afternoon instead of in the morning.

SEE THE LAST LAVA FLOW

If you drive south on Route 31, past the condos of Kihei and the resorts of Wailea, past the Makena Beach hotel, past Big Beach, the road becomes narrow. Soon thereafter, you will find the road takes you over Maui's last lava flow. In this eerie landscape, you can see lava that flowed down from part-way up this side of Haleakala volcano in 1790. Be careful, as you can fall and injure yourself on the sharp lava rocks. (This flow did not come from the top of the crater, which last erupted 650 years previously.) If you continue a little farther, the road ends at La Perouse Bay.

HORSEBACK RIDES

If you enjoy horseback riding, I suggest Pony Express Tours. They have long rides down into Haleakala Crater, or shorter rides around Haleakala Ranch. Either way, you get spectacular scenery, small groups, and an experienced guide. For more information, call them at 808-667-2200, or see their web site at www.ponyexpresstours.com

More info about horseback rides in various parts of Maui, including a comparison of some companies offering those rides, is on the Horseback Riding page in the Activities section of this website at www.mauihawaii.org/maui-activities/horseback-riding.htm

LAVENDER GARDEN

This garden in Upcountry opened in 2002. It's out of the way so you won't find it without knowing where to look. Nanea ao Kula (Serenity of Kula) is a former protea farm that Alii Chang turned into a lavender garden from which they produce numerous products containing lavender. You can tour this lovely garden, with its gorgeous views of the central valley of Maui, on your own, or with a guide. They have a 30-minute walking tour, or a lavender tea with lavender lecture and tour, or a longer lavender luncheon, with lecture and tour, so call and ask about the schedule. They do try to sell you their lavender products at the end of the tour. Phone 878-3004 or 283-3777 or see www.mauihawaii.org/sights/lavender-farm.htm

HIKE

I don't usually hike, but my wife and I did do part of the hike on the Lahaina Pali Trail in 1999. This is a 5-mile hike over the West Maui mountains. We only walked the first half mile uphill, and then turned around and came back down. It is a beautiful hike, with wonderful views of the mountains and ocean. Like us, you can do as much or as little of it as you like. To get to the start of this trail, look for a small dirt parking lot just off the main road (Honoapiilani Highway), just past Mile Marker 11 (just past an emergency call box, just past the first section of wire fencing screen on the side of the mountain), on your way from the Lahaina-Kaanapali area toward the central valley of Maui. Call 871-2521 for information and a brochure about the sights along the Lahaina Pali Trail hike.

Other suggested hikes on Maui: www.mauihawaii.org/sights/hiking.htm

If you'd like a guide for your Maui hiking, I suggest Erik Blair at www.mauibackroads.com. There are also books about hiking on Maui at all of the bookstores on Maui. Two of the best are Hiking Maui, The Valley Isle, by Robert Smith, and Maui Trails: Walks, Strolls and Treks on the Valley Island, by Kathy Morey. You can get either of them before you go, at major bookstores or by ordering it online. There is a clickable link to order those books from Amazon, on the Books page of this Maui web site at www.mauihawaii.org/mauibooks.htm

LUAU (ONE EVENING)

There are several Hawaiian luau dinner shows available any evening. The food is interesting; the show has various Polynesian island dancers and music. Every tourist should go to one luau during their visit to Hawaii.

Places to call to ask about luaus:

Old Lahaina Luau 667-1998

Royal Lahaina Hotel 661-3611

Hyatt Regency Hotel 661-1234

Feast at Lele 667-5353

Grand Wailea 875-1234

Makena Beach Resort (former Maui Prince) 874-1111

Wailea Beach Marriott 879-1922
Activity desk at your hotel or booths in Lahaina or Kihei

The Old Lahaina Luau (my wife's favorite) is the most authentically Hawaiian, has the most beautiful oceanfront setting, has the most comfortable chairs (if you don't choose to sit on the ground), has the most old Hawaiian music, and has less touristy music than a hotel luau. It is at 1251 Front Street in the north part of Lahaina, across from the Lahaina Cannery Mall. Space for 440 guests and often sold out, so call far in advance for the best seats. More expensive than the hotel luaus, and generally not discounted like the hotel ones. Toll-free reservations phone 1-800-248-5828
www.OldLahainaLuau.com

My personal favorite luau is at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, because it is more showy, with the Hawaiian music that all we tourists love. Kids often like the Hyatt luau because it has fire dancers and is less serious than the Old Lahaina Luau. I also like the luau at the Royal Lahaina Hotel. It has a good combination of authentic and touristy music and dance, with a beautiful sunset backdrop.

At the Old Lahaina Luau, and at the Feast at Lele, you are assigned to a reserved seat when you make your reservation, so the further in advance you buy your ticket, the closer you will sit to the stage. For most other luaus, there are no reserved seats, so the earlier you arrive that evening, the closer to the stage you can choose to sit.

The Feast at Lele is more expensive than most other luaus, but its food is more elaborate and is served to you by waiters (instead of a buffet like the other luaus). It has just 150 people in the audience and just 8 dancers in the cast, so it is much smaller than the others. However, my wife and I and the friends we went with did not like it. We had long waits between dinner courses and long waits between segments of the show. Then the food courses and the show segments came at the same times, so we could not fully enjoy either one. We found most of the performers difficult to see from most locations in the audience, because the small cast was spread out and the stage was not significantly elevated.

For any luau, you can usually get a discount by calling for the best price at Barefoot Discount Tours (661-8889 in Lahaina) or Activity Warehouse (667-4000 in Lahaina). (Never get tickets to anything from anyone who asks you to sit through a timeshare sales presentation.)

More info about luaus is on the Luau page in the Activities section of this website at <http://www.mauihawaii.org/maui-activities/luaus.htm>

SHOPPING

Where's the best place to pick up those souvenirs you've just GOT to take home?

For the most fun shopping: lots of small stores on Front Street in Lahaina.

For the most choices in one place: Hilo Hattie (Lahaina & Kihei).

For the lowest prices: Wal-Mart in Kahului.

For Hawaiian music CD's, there are some at Hilo Hattie and a much larger selection at Barnes and Noble bookstore in Lahaina. But the best prices are at Wal-Mart in Kahului.

Six main shopping areas and one store I suggest:

Front Street in Lahaina

Little tourist shops for T-shirts and souvenirs and art

Whalers Village on Kaanapali Beach 661-4567

Nicer tourist shops and restaurants.

Good souvenir shirt choices at Crazy Shirt.

www.whalersvillage.com for the monthly activity calendar of free shows

The Shops at Wailea 879-1991

Upscale shops and restaurants in a beautiful modern open-air mall www.shopsatwailea.com

The Cannery on the main road outside the north edge of Lahaina
Modern enclosed mall
Regular stores, tourist shops, restaurants, Long's Drugstore, and Safeway 24-hour supermarket

Lahaina Center at the north end of the Front Street (Lahaina) shopping district

Queen Kaahumanu Center in Kahului 877-4325
Sears and Macy's and about 90 other stores, plus food court
Biggest shopping center on Maui
Where Maui residents (not just tourists) shop

Hilo Hattie in Lahaina (667-7911) and Kihei (875-4545)

There is one store on Maui that deserves its own special mention. Hilo Hattie may be tacky, but it's got good selection on all the clothes and souvenirs that you want to bring home from Maui. An amazing 25% of all the visitors to Hawaii stop in at one of the Hilo Hattie stores on one of the islands some time during their visit. After you get your free shell lei on arrival, you will be astounded at the huge selection of aloha shirts, dresses, costume jewelry, trinkets, candies, nuts, souvenirs and other Hawaiian-themed STUFF. In case you don't buy enough when you are there, many of the items available in the stores are also available on their web site at www.hilohattie.com

Was there really such a person as Hilo Hattie? Well, sort of. Clarissa Haili (1901-1979) was a comic singer, one of whose songs in the 1940's was called "When Hilo Hattie Does the Hula Hop." She also appeared as Waihila, a flower seller, in a 3-minute scene near the beginning of the 1961 movie "Blue Hawaii" with Elvis Presley. A clothing factory on the Big Island, named after the character Hilo Hattie, was bought in the 1960's by Jim Romig, a businessman from Washington state. He turned it into the company that exists today with several large stores throughout Hawaii.

FREE THINGS TO DO

HULA SHOWS AT SHOPPING CENTERS

Several shopping centers have free hula shows once or twice per week. Call for days and times:

Whalers Village www.whalersvillage.com 661-4567
Lahaina Center www.lahainacenter.com 667-9216
Lahaina Cannery Mall www.lahainacannery.com 661-5304
Queen Kaahumanu Center 877-3369
Wharf Cinema Center 661-8748

HULA SHOW AT KAA NAPALI BEACH HOTEL

Daily at 6:30 PM. Call 661-0011 for information. You can watch this show free from some seats around the edges of the audience, or you can sit at the tables in the center of the audience. There is no charge to sit at the tables, but the waitress will expect you to order drinks or snacks if you sit there.

SINGERS SUNDAY AT KAA NAPALI BEACH HOTEL

Sunday mornings behind the buffet brunch room, outside and in back of the Kaanapali Beach hotel, sit at the round tables and listen to live music.

HAWAIIAN CULTURAL TALK AT RITZ-CARLTON HOTEL

Fridays at 10 AM, see a video about the Hawaiian people, with a discussion by Hawaiian Cultural Advisor Clifford Naeole. Call him at the Ritz 669-6200 to verify day and time.

KEALIA POND NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Walk around these quiet and peaceful wetlands in the south part of Maui's central valley, looking at the birds and maybe some turtles. Enter at mile marker 6 on Mokulele Highway (route 311) just north of North Kihei Road (route 310). Daytime only; closed weekends. Call 875-1582 for further information.

SHUTTLE BUS (some free and others cost $1)

Whalers Village - Kahana - Napili
Kaanapali Resort Trolley
Wailea
(Ask for schedule at your hotel)

WHALE CENTER OF THE PACIFIC 661-5992

Museum about whales and whaling in the Whalers Village Shopping Center on Kaanapali Beach.

PACIFIC WHALE FOUNDATION info

A volunteer from the Pacific Whale Foundation will answer your questions, give you brochures, and lend you her binoculars to watch the whales (winter only) at McGregor Point Lookout on the Pali portion of Honoapiilani Highway on the west side of Maalaea Bay, from 8:30 AM to 3:30 PM.

SIT UNDER THE BANYAN TREE

In Lahaina, relax and watch the tourists and the locals. Meet artists there weekends from 9 AM to 5 PM.

OLD COURTHOUSE BUILDING

In Lahaina, behind Banyan Tree. Includes Lahaina Visitors Center (open every day 9-5), art gallery, and old jail.

ART

Friday night is art night in Lahaina. That evening, or any day, walk through the numerous galleries there. The Lahaina Visitors Center (in the Old Courthouse behind the Banyan Tree) has a flyer with a map of Lahaina's art galleries with names of the artists featured in each.

WOW = Wailea On Wednesdays. Wednesday evening, or any day, see the art in galleries at the Shops at Wailea shopping center.

Schaefer International Gallery at the Maui Arts and Cultural Center in Kahului is free and open 11 AM to 5 PM daily, with rotating art exhibits.

You can also see beautiful art in the major hotels in the resort areas of Wailea, Kaanapali, and Kapalua. The best is the art at the Four Seasons hotel in Wailea.

MUSEUMS

A few of Maui's museums are free: Whalers Village Museum in Kaanapali, Printing Museum at Lahainaluna High School in Lahaina, Hale Kahiko (Ancient House) at Lahaina Center, Hale Paahao (Irons House) on Prison Street in Lahaina, Lahaina Heritage Museum in the Old Lahaina Courthouse.

RAINBOWS

Watch for rainbows over the ocean the first two hours after sunrise, and in the mountains the last two hours before sunset. They are most likely on days with some mist in the air, or days with light rain showers, when the sun is visible in the opposite direction from where you look for the rainbows. They are most commonly seen from West Maui (the Kaanapali side of the island).

MOONSET

For a beautiful sight, watch a nearly-full moon setting into the ocean, in a dark sky, with white moonlight reflected across the ocean towards you. The only time you can see this, is 1-3 days before a full moon, at 1-3 hours before sunrise. Look in the western sky, at about the same position that the sun has been setting. (On the day of a full moon, and in the next few days, the moon sets in daylight, and so you do not get the beautiful effect that you get by seeing it set in the dark, before sunrise, on the last few days before full moon.) A couple days before full moon, wake up 20 minutes before the time the moon is due to set, to get this view. You can find out the date of full moon, and the time of moonset and sunrise, from home before you leave, by going to <http://aa.usno.navy.mil/data/docs/MoonPhase.php> (for the date of full moon) and to http://aa.usno.navy.mil/data/docs/RS_OneDay.php (for the time of moonset on any date). If you refuse to get up around 4 AM for the above spectacle, or if you are not on Maui at the right time just before full moon, then you can get a partial similar view by watching a first-quarter moon set into the ocean around midnight. Check the above Web sites for date of early moon phase.

NIGHT SKY

Look up at Maui's clear skies any night, and see more stars and a different perspective than at home. If you are willing to spend money for a closer look, there are astronomy programs with a telescope on the roof of the Hyatt every night for $25, call 661-1234 or see their web site at www.maui.hyatt.com Or for the most spectacular view, learn about the stars at the top of Haleakala volcano, including dinner, sunset view, telescope and astronomy lesson, for $75, from Star Gazers Maui. Call 281-9158. (You have to drive up to the top yourself.) If you are an amateur astronomer and belong to an astronomy club back home, email me at jon@mauihawaii.org for information about astronomy clubs on Maui.

IAO VALLEY

Huge rock formation and surrounding valley scenery in the middle of the West Maui Mountains (parking fee). Also Heritage Gardens on the road into Iao Valley.

HOSMER GROVE

Beautiful small forest of wide variety of trees (pine, spruce, cedar and eucalyptus imported from all over the world). At the 7000-foot elevation, just below the entrance to Haleakala National Park. Camping and hiking, but can be chilly.

http://gorp.away.com/gorp/resource/US_National_Park/hi/hik_hal4.htm

TEDESCHI VINEYARDS

Free tour of Maui's only winery and free wine tasting. In Upcountry. Call 878-6058 or see their web site at www.mauiwine.com

PETROGLYPHS

In Olowalu. Ask directions at the General Store. About a mile walk back into the fields, to see ancient rock carvings on a cliff.

WATCH THE WHALES

About 5000 humpback whales come to Maui every winter. Watch them from the beach or from your lanai. January through March are the peak months, when you can see whales every day.

WHALE LECTURES AND FILMS

The Ocean Science Discovery Center is run by the Pacific Whale Foundation in the Maalaea Harbor Village, the shopping center adjacent to the aquarium. Call 1-800-942-5311 for the current schedule of free lectures. Also free talks about whales in Kihei at Hawaiian Islands Humpback Whale National Marine Sanctuary <http://hawaiihumpbackwhale.noaa.gov>.

WATCH THE MAUI VISITORS CHANNEL

Cable TV channel 7 has constant information about things to see, places to go, restaurants, etc.

PICK UP BROCHURES

This Week in Maui, Maui Gold, 101 Things to Do, and others available on racks in hotels and shopping centers.

SEE DIFFERENT BEACHES

Use the book of maps from your car rental company to drive around and see beaches on different parts of the island.

PLAYGROUNDS FOR KIDS

Kamaole and Kalama Parks have free swings, slides, and jungle gyms. In Kihei.

GIANT BUDDHA STATUE

Lahaina Jodo Mission has the largest Buddha statue outside of Japan. In the north part of Lahaina, (near the "Jesus coming soon" sign) turn off of Front street (toward the ocean) onto Ala Moana street, and immediately bear left, and look for the sign "Lahaina Jodo Mission."

TOURS IN THE HYATT

Sign up at the Hyatt Regency Hotel on Kaanapali Beach, for their free Art & Garden Tour and Wildlife Tour and Lei-Making class. (The Hyatt also has a great Astronomy Tour on the roof most nights, with a guide and a telescope, but it isn't free. $25 and worth it.) Call 661-1234 for all tour times and days.

SEE THE FARMERS' MARKET

Mornings (7-11 AM) Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in Honokowai, a couple miles north of Kaanapali.

Afternoons (1:30-5:30 PM) Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in Kihei (Suda's Store in north part of Kihei)

Fruits, vegetables, flowers, bread, jam, all often fresher and cheaper than at the grocery store. And they have free taste samples too!

WATCH THE SUNSET

It looks different each night, and it looks different from each vantage point. Watch sunset from a different place each evening: from your hotel or condo, from a sunset-view restaurant, from the corner of Front Street and Papalaua in Lahaina, from S-turns park in Kahana, from Olowalu (just north of the Olowalu General Store), from Kaanapali Beach, from one of the three Kamaole beach parks in Kihei, from Wailea Beach, from the hills of Kapalua, from the top of Haleakala.

On June 21 (the longest day) the sun rises at 5:46 AM and sets at 7:11 PM. On December 21 (the shortest day) the sun rises at 6:59 AM and sets at 5:51 PM. However, depending on where you are watching from, the sun may rise later or set earlier if it is rising or setting behind a mountain or behind Lanai (an island about nine miles away). In addition, the sun rises earlier and sets later when viewed from the top of Haleakala, the tallest mountain on Maui, two miles up. For a list of sunrise and sunset times on Maui for each month of the year, see the Weather page of this website at www.mauihawaii.org/maui-weather.htm

HISTORICAL SIGHTS OF LAHAINA

Take the self-guided walking tour. Pick up a free “Maui Historical Walking Guide” booklet in the Lahaina Visitors Center in the old courthouse behind the banyan tree.

TAKE A WALK ON THE BEACH

All beaches in Hawaii are free and public.

FREE SHELL LEI

At Hilo Hattie’s store in the Lahaina Center (behind Hard Rock Café) in Lahaina, or on Piikea street in Kihei

HIKING

See this page for where when and how:
<http://www.mauihawaii.org/sights/hiking.htm>

WATCH THE SURFERS

Riding the big waves in the afternoon, off Hookipa Park on the north shore, two miles past Paia.

DRIVE THE ROAD TO HANA

Info at www.mauihawaii.org/sights/road-to-hana.htm

WATCH GLASS BLOWING

See glass blowing 10:30-4:00 most days at Hot Island Glass at 3620 Baldwin Avenue (call 572-4527 to confirm) in Makawao.

WAIANAPANAPA STATE PARK

Four miles before Hana. Includes a black sand beach and some trails to explore.

TOUR REAL ESTATE

Look for signs announcing “Open House” at condos and homes all over Maui. Wander in and chat with the real estate agents about condos for sale. Dream about owning a condo on Maui some day. (Do NOT attend any Time Share sales presentations. Do NOT even consider looking at any Time Share property.)

CHEAP THINGS TO DO

MAUI SWAP MEET (50 cents admission)

The only bargains on Maui (T-shirts, jewelry, flowers, fresh fruits and vegetables, hand-painted shirts and dresses, and an amazing variety of other STUFF) are at the Maui Swap Meet, at Maui Community College in Kahului, Saturdays, 7 AM - Noon. (Note that this is a new location where they moved in January of 2009.) It’s been going on every week since 1981. 200 vendors and thousands of customers (60% locals and 40% tourists) show up here each Saturday morning, so they know this is the place for a good deal. Photos and more info are at www.mauihawaii.org/shopping/swap-meet.htm

DON'T JUST EXPERIENCE HAWAII, HAVE A HAWAIIAN EXPERIENCE

If you would like to make this more than just a vacation, or if you have been to Hawaii before and are looking for something different to make this visit even more special, then don't just experience Hawaii: have a Hawaiian experience. Catch the Aloha Spirit. Learn about the Hawaiian people, land, and culture.

The Aloha Spirit is the natural kindness and friendliness of the Hawaiian people. Aloha doesn't mean hello and goodbye. Aloha means love. The people of Hawaii use the word Aloha when others would say hello or goodbye, because they are expressing their love of all people. The people of Hawaii are the most warm and friendly people I have ever met. They are kind and polite. They are happy to see you and to help you. They don't push in line or act rudely or toot their horn or cut you off in traffic. They take their time, take it easy, relax and enjoy the beauty of nature. Return that attitude and behavior toward the people you meet on Maui. While you are visiting their island, catch the Aloha Spirit. Learn a little of their ways and their lifestyle. Take that spirit home with you. When you are back home, and you are taking the time to be kind to everyone you meet, remember that you learned about this Aloha Spirit during your visit to Hawaii. In this way, your Hawaiian experience will last the rest of your life.

Before you come to Maui, read a little about the history of this land and people, such as the book "A Concise History of the Hawaiian Islands" by Dr. Phil Barnes. While you are on Maui, learn about the people and about this wonderful land in which they live. Attend the cultural talk by Clifford Naeole at the Ritz Carlton Kapalua. (It's free to everyone on Fridays at 10:00 AM, but call him at the Ritz 669-6200 to verify day and time.) Pick up the free "Maui Historical Walking Guide" booklet at brochure racks or at the Lahaina Visitor Center behind the Banyan tree, and read it as you walk to each of the historical sites in the old whaling town of Lahaina and elsewhere on the island. Look at the exhibits in the free whaling museum in Whalers Village. Take the free Kaanapali Beach history tour offered two mornings per week (661-3271). Attend the all-Hawaiian theatrical experience of the live Ulalena show at the Maui Theater in Lahaina (661-9913). Learn about the environment at the Hawaii Nature Center on Iao Valley Road (244-6500) and at the Maui Ocean Center in Maalaea (270-7000). Use the words aloha (greetings or love) and mahalo (thank you) at least 5 times every day, and try to learn a dozen additional Hawaiian words (aina = the land, alii = royalty, anuenue = rainbow, hale = house, honu = turtle, mauka = toward the mountains, makai = toward the ocean, keiki = children, kokua = cooperation, ohana = family, ono = delicious, pau = finished). When you buy souvenirs, look for things that are made on Maui. When you go to a restaurant, order a local fish instead of a steak or burger. At local restaurants and grocery stores, sample more local foods such as guava juice, pog, Maui chips, lomi-lomi salmon, shave ice, Kona coffee, Maui onions, plate lunch, kalua pig, poke, saimin, and maybe even poi. Try the "Native Hawaiian Combination" dinner (fern salad, steamed fish in lau lau, poi) at the Tiki Terrace at the Kaanapali Beach Hotel (661-0011). During whale season (winter) stop off at the whale-watching lookout near Maalaea, and learn from the guide at the Pacific Whale Foundation van about humpback whales. If you do the things in this paragraph, you'll come home with a far better understanding of Hawaii than the usual tourist. Your family will have a wonderful new respect for Hawaii and its people. But even in this land so different from home, remember that back home is "on the mainland" and not "back in the states."

RESTAURANTS:

RESTAURANT TIPS

Many of the top restaurants on Maui serve a type of food called Pacific Rim Cuisine. This consists of a mixture of Asian and California styles of cooking, stressing seafood. A good choice at many Maui restaurants is "catch of the day." This is generally a fish with a Hawaiian name, such as Mahi-Mahi (dolphin-fish), Uku (gray snapper), Opakapaka (pink snapper), Ahi (yellow-fin tuna), or Ono (wahoo, like mackerel).

When you go to restaurants that you heard about here, you can get the best service by telling them you heard about them on Jon's Maui Vacations website. Why? Because you only go there once, but the readers of this web site represent many Maui visitors. The people in these restaurants know that I will hear about the kind of service they give you. They know that I will only continue to recommend them if they give great service to the people who read about them here and who report their experiences back to me by email and by filling out the questionnaire at the end of this paper. So tell your waiter or waitress, tell the person who greets you at the restaurant, tell the person who answers the phone when you call to make your reservation, tell the manager or chef at the restaurant if you see him/her, tell them all! Tell them you heard about them on Jon's Maui Vacations website.

Many of Maui's best restaurants in all price ranges are described in more detail, with menu lists and photos of the food, on the Restaurants section of this website at www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants.htm

There are about 350 restaurants on Maui, and I have tried to find the most wonderful of them for you. (It's a tough job, but somebody has to do it.) It is a good idea to make reservations a couple days ahead, especially if you are on Maui during the busiest times of the year (around holidays or school breaks) or if you want to eat supper at the busiest times (7-8 P.M.). Don't think a restaurant isn't good just because it's in a hotel or shopping center.

Restaurants and other businesses on Maui are opening, closing, and changing every day. I only go there once per year, and unfortunately cannot try every one of these restaurants every year. About 100 restaurants on Maui open, close, or change ownership per year. Therefore, some of the restaurants and other businesses listed on these pages may be gone, or may have changed, by the time you get to Maui. Call before you go.

You can save money on your Maui restaurant expenses with the following suggestions:

Share an entrée (many restaurants have generous portions, enough for two people).

Have an appetizer as your entrée.

Cut your entrée in half as soon as you get it, then eat only half of it and take the other half back to the condo to have for dinner the next evening.

Eat out for lunch instead of dinner.

Some restaurants have "early bird specials." Call ahead to ask how much you can save by eating dinner early.

Carry out dinner from the Honokowai Okazuya & Deli (665-0512) on the west side, or from Eskimo Candy (891-8898) on the south side. The fish entrees here are as good as at many of Maui's top restaurants, for about half the price.

If you are staying at a resort hotel that has its own restaurant, ask when you make your hotel reservation whether they have a package that includes free breakfasts.

Here are my favorite Maui restaurants:

THE VERY BEST RESTAURANTS ON MAUI

I only have space in this "Printable Guide" to describe my ten favorite restaurants in each of the three price ranges (expensive, moderate, inexpensive). But on the rest of this Maui Vacations website, there are more complete reviews and menu lists and food photos of over 110 Maui restaurants in all price ranges, including more details of the ones listed here and many others. See www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants.htm

for links to all of those reviews.

EXPENSIVE (Fine-Dining) RESTAURANTS:

PLANTATION HOUSE 669-6299 Kapalua

In the Plantation Golf Course clubhouse above Kapalua. My favorite Maui restaurant. Wonderful Hawaiian/Mediterranean food in an elegant setting. Two or three kinds of fish in your choice of five or six different preparations, plus meats and (by request) vegetarian. Make a reservation and come early (5:30 PM) to get a good seat for the spectacular view of sunset. For top service at dinner, ask for Vicki to be your waitress, and tell her Rosie and Jon sent you. Also ask for the manager, Nate or Norm, and tell him we sent you. A great dessert here is Bananas Foster. Also open for delicious breakfasts and lunches.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/plantation-house.htm

ROY'S KAA NAPALI 669-6999 Kaanapali

At the entrance to Kaanapali, in the golf course clubhouse. In my opinion, the tastiest food on Maui. For great service, ask for the manager, Justin, and tell him Jon and Rosie sent you. Pacific Rim Cuisine. Great chocolate souffle for dessert.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/roys-restaurant-maui.htm

I'O 661-8422 Lahaina

In the 505 shopping center in Lahaina. Very tasty unusual preparations of several kinds of fresh fish, as well as other great entrees. Beautiful indoor décor, or sunset-view outdoor dining by the ocean. Same owner and chef as Pacific O, which has similar food.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/io-maui.htm

NICK'S FISHMARKET 879-7224 Wailea

In the Fairmont Kea Lani Hotel in Wailea. Excellent service: the best of any restaurant on Maui. Excellent food (great seafood, with some chicken and beef available as well). Even the salad course (their own Maui Wowie salad) made me say "Wow!" Beautiful open-air room. Very expensive.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/nicks-fishmarket.htm

HULA GRILL 667-6636 OR 661-3894 Kaanapali Beach

In Whalers Village shopping center. Good view of ocean and sunset. Excellent dinners, including fish and meats, in the main dining area (not the casual area on the sand floor). Very good lunch (salads, pizza, sandwiches).

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/hula-grill.htm

HALIIMAILE GENERAL STORE 572-2666 Haliimaile

Creative preparations of delicious seafoods and meats. In upcountry area, a one-hour drive from Kaanapali or 45 minutes from Wailea, but worth the trip. Open for both lunch and dinner on weekdays, but weekends are dinner only.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/haliimaile.htm

LAHAINA GRILL 667-5117 Lahaina

The food is innovative Pacific Rim cuisine and the service is excellent. A couple examples of their unusual and beautiful preparations: Reconstructed California Roll (appetizer stack of crab, avocado, and rice); Maui Martini (a salad, not a drink, in a martini glass). It's in the center of Lahaina, just off Front Street, on Lahainaluna Road. Very expensive.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/lahaina-grill.htm

PINEAPPLE GRILL 669-9600 Kapalua

In the clubhouse of the Bay golf course. Large picture windows look out on the golf course (and the ocean in the distance), while you enjoy delicious foods beautifully presented. Wonderful Pineapple Upside Down Cake for dessert. Be sure to look up at the ceiling of the bar on your way in or out of the restaurant.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/pineapple-grill.htm

WATERFRONT 244-9028 Maalaea

In Maalaea. Six different fresh fish, each made as any of nine different preparations. New location in the Harbor Shops near the aquarium.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/waterfront-maalaea.htm

GANNON'S 875-8080 Wailea

At Gold and Emerald golf courses in Wailea. Great food, beautifully presented, beautiful views.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/seawatch.htm

The above are my ten favorite fine-dining (expensive) restaurants on Maui. But there are many more that are also excellent. Links to reviews, menu lists, and food photos for the above plus all the rest of the best fine-dining restaurants are at www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/fine-dining.htm

MODERATE PRICED RESTAURANTS:

(Note: These are "moderate" only relative to the even more expensive restaurants in the above section. Compared to back home, these are expensive.)

CAFÉ O'LEI 891-1368 Kihei

Upstairs in the Rainbow Mall at 2439 South Kihei Road. Lunch and dinner. Good variety of seafood, beef, flatbreads, sushi and more in a beautiful atmosphere.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/cafe-olei.htm

Also Cafe O'Lei restaurants in Napili and at the Dunes golf course in Maui's central valley.

THREE'S 879-3133 Kihei

In Kihei Kalama Villages at 1945 South Kihei Road. Breakfast, lunch, dinner, and late-night. Excellent food at moderate prices.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/threes.htm

CUATRO 879-1110 Kihei

In Kihei Town Center at 1881 South Kihei Road. Fine-dining dinner at moderate-dining prices.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/cuatro.htm

CANE & TARO 662-0668 Kaanapali

In the middle of Whalers Village shopping center, serving the best breakfast, lunch and dinner in that shopping center.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/cane-taro.htm

CASANOVA 572-0220 Makawao

In Makawao (Upcountry). Large servings of delicious pasta, pizza, and Italian entrees. Much lower prices than the restaurants in the resort areas.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/casanova-maui.htm

LEILANI'S 661-4495 Kaanapali Beach

In the Whalers Village Shopping Center, on the beach. Good seafood and steaks in the main dining area (dinner only) upstairs. Limited less expensive menu in the more casual bar area (lunch and dinner) downstairs, including my favorite fish tacos.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/leilanis.htm

SANSEI 669-6286 Kapalua

On Office Road near the Ritz Carlton Hotel. Excellent sushi and similar foods. Try their two "Taste of Lahaina Award Winners" Mango Crab Salad Hand roll with Peanuts and Thai Vinaigrette or Asian Rock Shrimp Cake with Crusty Chinese Noodles & Ginger-Lime Chili Butter & Cilantro Pesto. Call to ask if they still have their 25% off everything special price for all food ordered between 5:30 and 6:00 PM. (If you go for that Early Bird pricing at 5:30, avoid Sundays and Mondays, when they are extremely crowded with Maui residents getting an even bigger discount.)

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/sansei.htm

KIMO'S 661-4811 Lahaina

On the ocean in Lahaina. Good for lunch or dinner. Several fish choices, prepared several different ways, for dinner. Salad included at no extra charge with entrees, unlike many of the more expensive restaurants above. Save room for their famous Hula Pie (a large ice cream dessert specialty). One of the few places that stays open late in Lahaina, often with late night happy hour and music.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/kimos.htm

AROMA D'ITALIA 879-0133 Kihei

Great variety of Italian food at the Foodland shopping center in Kihei.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/aroma-ditalia.htm

THE FISH MARKET 665-9895 Honokowai

This is not a restaurant, but it's such a wonderful place to buy seafood that I had to put it in here. They sell several kinds of fresh fish every day, and they make it unbelievably simple for you to cook it for yourself in your condo. They provide you with your choice of several toppings or marinades for the fish, and even sell you a disposable pan to bake it in. On the Lower Honoapiilani Road, a couple miles north of Kaanapali, adjacent to the Honokowai Okazuya. Tell the owners Jim and Tricia that you heard about them from Jon's Maui Vacations website, and they'll give you a free taste of their fabulous seafood soup.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/fish-market.htm

The above are my ten favorite moderate-priced restaurants on Maui. But there are many more that are also excellent. Links to reviews, menu lists, and food photos for the above plus all the rest of the best moderate restaurants are at www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/moderate-restaurants.htm

INEXPENSIVE RESTAURANTS:

HONOKOWAI OKAZUYA & DELI 665-0512 Honokowai

At 3600 Lower Honoapiilani Road, in a small strip shopping center, a couple miles north of Kaanapali. The very best take-out food on Maui. Most menu items are under $12. Their most expensive $18 fish entrees here are just as good as the $36 fish dinners in the most expensive restaurants listed above, even though this place has less atmosphere than McDonalds.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/okazuya.htm

ESKIMO CANDY 891-8898 Kihei

Wai Wai Place at corner of Halekuai. Delicious carry-out, and a few small tables to dine in. Excellent fish lunches and dinners.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/eskimo-candy.htm

PENNE PASTA CAFÉ 661-6633 Lahaina

Small restaurant on Dickenson Street, a couple blocks back from Front Street, in Lahaina. Lunch and dinner every day. Good variety of pasta, interesting pizzas, plus some salads and sandwiches.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/penne-pasta.htm

CAFÉ DES AMIS 579-6323 Paia

At 42 Baldwin Avenue in Paia. Very tiny restaurant, but with large plates of super-tasty Mediterranean and Indian food. From morning through evening they have crepes, curry wraps, breakfast crepes, salads, Indian curries and sweet crepes.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/cafe-des-amis-paia.htm

GAZEBO 669-5621 Napili

Breakfast and lunch in a little open-air gazebo, on the ocean, behind the Napili Shores condos, in Napili. While you're waiting in line to get in, walk down a couple steps toward the ocean behind the restaurant, and take a look at the beautiful view of Napili Bay and beach to the right.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/gazebo.htm

CJ'S COMFORT ZONE DELI & DINER 667-0968 Kaanapali

On the main Honoapiilani Highway, in the Fairway Shops (a small strip shopping center just north of the entrance to Kaanapali). Delicious sandwiches, salads, and entrees, for breakfast, lunch or dinner. Also very good carryout box lunches to take along with you on the Road to Hana or for a picnic anyplace on Maui. Get their yummy "Hana Bar" for dessert.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/cj.htm

DA KITCHEN 871-7782 Kahului

Delicious giant plate lunches with kalua pork or chicken or beef. Lunch or dinner M-F, lunch Saturday, closed Sunday. In the Triangle Square shopping center near K-Mart in Kahului.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/da-kitchen.htm

LAHAINA COOLERS 661-7082 Lahaina

On Dickenson Street, a couple blocks back from Front Street, in Lahaina. Breakfast, lunch and dinner. Salads, pasta, tropical pizza, tortillas, burgers, fish. Great fish tacos.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/lahaina-coolers.htm

THAI CHEF 667-2814 Lahaina and 874-5605 Kihei

Two locations: in the Old Lahaina Shopping Center behind Front Street, and in the Rainbow Mall at 2439 S. Kihei Road. Very tasty, over 80 menu choices, including 19 vegetarian dishes. Same menu lunch & dinner.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/thai-chef.htm

ULULANI'S HAWAIIAN SHAVE ICE 609-5678 Lahaina

Not really a restaurant, but a stand with the best shave ice on Maui, at 819 Front Street, in a courtyard just north of the seawall.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/ululani-shave-ice.htm

The above are my ten favorite inexpensive restaurants on Maui. But there are many more that are also excellent. Links to reviews, menu lists, and food photos for the above plus all the rest of the best inexpensive restaurants are at www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/inexpensive-restaurants.htm

PLACES FOR GOOD PIZZA:

Round Table Pizza Fairway shops in Kaanapali, and 207 Piikea in Kihei

Pizza Paradiso Honokowai Marketplace in Honokowai

Lahaina Pizza Company in Lahaina

Shaka Pizza, Kihei

.....
SUNDAY BRUNCH (On the seventh day the chef created brunch):

MAKENA BEACH HOTEL (former MAUI PRINCE) 874-1111 Wailea

Maui's most expensive and most bountiful variety Sunday brunch. 32 kinds of salad, 8 kinds of bread and rolls, 6 kinds of cheese, 2 soups, 8 hot dishes, 16 desserts, and more. Champagne, Caesar salad, garden salad, anchovies and numerous other salad toppers and dressings, capers, olives, onions, seaweed, artichokes, pea salad, noodle salad, lomi salmon salad, shrimp salad, smoked salmon, sashimi, California rolls, sushi, papaya, melon, strawberries, other fruits, shrimp, crab claws, pancakes, crepes, omelets made to order (choice of numerous fillers including caviar), eggs benedict, bacon, sausage, breads, rolls, lavash, breakfast cakes, sweet rolls, juices, beef, chicken, fish, rice, Maui onion mashed potatoes, salmon Alfredo, steamed vegetables, dim sum, crème caramel, cheesecake, bread pudding with three topping choices, eclairs, tarts, cakes and pies.

TIKI TERRACE at KAAANAPALI BEACH HOTEL 667-0124 Kaanapali Beach

Less expensive than the other Sunday buffet brunches on Maui, but still a huge variety of very good food. Cold foods include 22 kinds of salads, salmon, sushi, fruit, soup, bagels, rolls. Hot foods include carved beef and ham, kalua pork, chicken, mahi (fish), crepes, potatoes, rice, chow mein, waffles, omelet station. Desserts include 20 kinds of pies, cakes, petit fours, and more. No ocean view, but choose to eat at the outdoor tables so you can see and hear the live music.

DAILY BUFFET BREAKFASTS

For a good buffet breakfast or brunch any and every day (not just Sunday), go to any and all of the following. (Try a different one every day. Call ahead to be sure they still have a buffet every day.)

SWAN COURT RESTAURANT IN THE HYATT REGENCY HOTEL 661-1234 Kaanapali Beach

A wonderful daily buffet breakfast, including many hot and cold breakfast items, made-to-order omelets, plus rice, and potatoes. Beautiful view of swans and waterfalls in pond. Great artwork in the lobbies.

www.mauihawaii.org/restaurants/swan-court.htm

SHERATON HOTEL 661-0031 Kaanapali Beach

Excellent sweet rolls on the cold buffet, ordinary eggs and breakfast meats on the hot buffet.

WESTIN HOTEL 667-2525 Kaanapali Beach

Ask for an ocean-view table in Tropica for a better setting than the pool-view tables in Ono.

DUO at the FOUR SEASONS 874-8000 Wailea

RITZ CARLTON KAPALUA 669-6200

PACIFIC GRILL RESTAURANT IN THE FOUR SEASONS HOTEL 874-8000 Wailea

Kimo's 661-4811 Lahaina

For sunset (and sunrise) times for each month of the year on Maui, see the FAQ page of this website at

<http://www.mauihawaii.org/faqs.htm>

NIGHT LIFE

I'm usually back in my condo by 9:00 P.M., but people younger than me who stay out later have told me that you can have a great time drinking, dancing, and meeting the Maui residents, after that time. Places they have told me are worth checking out:

- Three's Bar & Grill in Kihei
- Lahaina Coolers in Lahaina
- Longhi's in Lahaina
- Kimo's in Lahaina
- Moose McGillycuddy's in Lahaina
- Hard Rock Café in Lahaina
- Lulu's at the Lahaina Cannery Mall
- Dollie's in Kahana

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:

BOOKS:

Suggested books to buy at home before you go:

Maui Revealed by Andrew Doughty and Harriett Friedman (fifth edition, 2010) has details and sights that I didn't know about, even though I have been to Maui over 25 times. Good photos, good maps, good directions, good index. If it's not in your bookstore, you can order it on the web from Amazon.com with the clickable link from the Books page of this Maui web site.

Maui: The Most Complete Guide to Family Fun and Adventure by Aluli, (11th Edition, 2005) has detailed information about hotels, condos, restaurants, sights, beaches, activities and tours. This is by far the most thorough Maui guidebook I have found, since it is the only one that includes descriptions of practically EVERY hotel, condo, and restaurant on Maui! If you don't see it on the shelf in your local bookstore, you can buy it conveniently online. (There is a clickable link directly to this book at Amazon.com, from the Books page of this Maui web site.) Read this one to help you decide where to stay on Maui, and take it along for useful info during your trip. Unfortunately, some of the information is out of date, since the last edition of this book was in 2005.

Driving and Discovering Hawaii: Maui and Molokai by Richard Sullivan (Montgomery Ewing Publishers, 2007) has beautiful photos and good maps, to help you drive around to all the best sights on Maui. If it's not in your bookstore, you can order it on the web from Amazon.com with the clickable link from the Books page of this Maui web site.

For information about the other Hawaiian islands, as well as Maui, I suggest Eyewitness Travel Guides Hawaii (published by DK) for loads of info & maps and color pictures throughout the Hawaiian islands. This too can be ordered online from Amazon with the clickable link from the Books page of this Maui web site.

UPDATES TO THIS INFORMATION ABOUT MAUI:

SOME QUOTES ABOUT MAUI

Maui is where people are sent when heaven is overbooked.

Here today, gone to Maui.
You go your way, I'll go Maui.
The sun'll come out to Maui.
Happily Mauied
The more the Mauier.
Eat, drink and be Maui.

Whykiki? (when you can Maui)

I am going to the island of the valley,
To Lahaina, Lahaina Luna.
Where the mountains are green, you will find me.
In Lahaina, Lahaina Luna.
They say that "Maui no ka oi"
And I agree.
Maui no ka oi---
It's the only place for me.
That's why you'll find me
Down by the seaside,
Watching the moonlight,
The twinkling starlight,
The golden sunrise,
The evening sunset,
In Lahaina,
Lahaina Luna.

I'm going to Maui tomorrow
To marry Tamara Malone.
Nothing could be finer
Than to live in Lahaina
And make Tamara my own.
I am going to the island of the valley
To live a life of delight.
I'm going to Maui
To marry Tamara tomorrow
Unless I get lucky tonight.

"The loveliest fleet of islands that lies anchored in any ocean"
(Mark Twain, 1866)

"I'd rather live one day in Maui than a month in New York." (Charles Lindbergh)

MAUI NO KA OI (Maui is the best)

The unofficial motto of Maui, "Maui no ka oi," was made up by Rev. Samuel Kapu in 1897 when he wrote words to the song "Maui Chimes."

My feelings about Hawaii mirror those of Mark Twain, who wrote in 1889:

"No alien land in all the world has any deep strong charm for me but that one, no other land could so longingly and so beseechingly haunt me, sleeping and waking, through half a lifetime, as that one has done.

"Other things leave me, but it abides; other things change, but it remains the same. For me the balmy airs are always blowing, its summer seas flashing in the sun; the pulsing of its surfbeat is in my ear; I can see its garlanded crags, its leaping cascades, its plummy palms drowsing by the shore, its remote summits floating like islands above the cloud wrack; I can feel the spirit of its wildland solitudes, I can hear the splash of its brooks; in my nostrils still lives the breath of flowers that perished twenty years ago."

ISLANDS WE HAVE VISITED

(In order of our preference)

MAUI

Valley Isle. Built up enough with hotels and towns with plenty to do, but not crowded with immediately adjacent hotels and solidly packed tourists on the beach like Waikiki. 728 square miles, population 127,000. Had 2.1 million visitors in 2005, of which 12% were from outside the USA. According to an article in the Maui News 1-12-06, 43% of Maui adults were born in Hawaii, 37% in other U.S. states, and 20% in other countries.

More statistics on Maui visitors, from the Annual Visitor Research Report for 2003 from the Hawaii Department of Business, Economic Development and Tourism:

54% of Maui visitors came only to Maui while 46% also visited other Hawaiian islands.

36% were first-time visitors to Maui, 64% were repeat visitors.

62% stayed in hotels, 29% in condos, 8% in timeshares, 6% with friends or relatives (some stayed in more than one place so the total is over 100%).

The busiest month is July, with 51,000 visitors present on an average day. Next busiest are August and June. The least busy month is September, with 33,000 visitors on an average day. Next least busy are October and May. The December average visitor count of 46,000 can be misleading, because there are very few visitors in early December averaged with extremely high visitors during Christmas week (by far the busiest week of the year).

38% of U.S. visitors to Maui come from California. Next highest are Washington 7%, Texas 5%, Illinois 4%, New York 3%, Oregon 3%.

For the 12% of Maui visitors who come from outside the U.S., the most come from Canada, followed by Japan, and then England, Australia, Germany.

OAHU

Honolulu. Most populated and built up island. Waikiki Beach area (suburb of Honolulu) has several big hotels on each block, and crowded beach. Lots of good restaurants and shows and stores. 905,000 residents. Had 4.8 million visitors in 2005, of which 42% were from outside the USA.

Polynesian Culture Center. Pearl Harbor. Ala Moana Shopping Center. Aloha Tower.

Waikiki Beach (on Oahu) has over 100 hotels and condos, but is the same size as Kaanapali Beach (on Maui), which has 13 hotels and condos.

You can usually get a magnificent view of Waikiki from your plane, if you request to sit on the right side (seat F or K, whichever is by a window) when coming in to Honolulu Airport, and on the left side (seat A) when taking off from Honolulu.

KAUAI

Fern Grotto. Beaches, canyons, cliffs, great sights to see. No real cities, but very small towns and large open spaces. Choose a hotel in Lihue or Poipu areas. Population 60,000. Had 1.1 million visitors in 2005.

HAWAII

"The Big Island" - largest Hawaiian island by far. Two huge dormant volcanic mountains, one of which has snow on top all year round. Some still active volcanic areas. Black sand beach on one area. Big ranches. Cities of Kona on the west (sunny) side of the island, and Hilo on the east (rainy) side. Population 167,000. Had 1.5 million visitors in 2005.

LANAI

Formerly covered with pineapple plantations. 141 square miles, 3200 inhabitants. Had 150,000 visitors in 2005. Two luxury hotels opened in 1991 (total of 363 rooms): Lodge at Koele and Manele Bay Hotel. Expensive hotels, expensive excellent restaurants in the hotels.

MOLOKAI

Very few condos and hotels, and no luxury resorts. Nothing to do, and no great restaurants, but some interesting sights to see. Old leper colony. 260 square miles, 7400 residents. Had 150,000 visitors in 2005.

LOIHI

New island. Haven't really been there yet. Eighteen miles southeast of the Big Island of Hawaii and 3,000 feet below sea level, is a new island being formed by an erupting underwater volcano. In only 50,000 years, this new island will rise above the surface. Better make your reservations soon.

OTHER ISLANDS

Although Hawaii is best known for its eight main islands (Oahu, Maui, Molokai, Lanai, Kauai, Hawaii, Kahoolawe, Niihau), the state actually includes 132 islands, reefs and shoals that stretch 1,523 miles, from Kure Atoll to underwater seamounts off the southeast coast of the Big Island.

FLIGHTS

There are 20-40-minute flights on full-size jets, from each of the four major islands to each other, every hour or so. Hawaiian Airlines flies Boeing 717's between the four major islands. To the minor islands (Molokai, Lanai, and others) you have to take a much smaller plane or a boat.

A LITTLE GEOLOGY

The earth's tectonic plates, moving westward slowly (3 inches per year) over a "hot spot" of lava deep in the ocean, plus millions of years of erosion, account for the fact that the islands on the eastern end of the Hawaiian chain are the largest (newest), while those toward the western end are very tiny (old and eroded). The largest island is Hawaii, on the eastern end of the chain, formed about 300,000 years ago, and still enlarging as fresh lava pours into the ocean. The second-largest island is Maui. The newer (eastern) half of Maui is the larger side, called Haleakala volcano, which formed about 750,000 years ago, and last erupted in 1790. The older (western) half of Maui is the smaller side, the West Maui Mountains, which formed 1,300,000 years ago. The next islands, as you move westward along the chain, are smaller because they have had more years to erode. In parentheses is the approximate age of each of these islands, in millions of years: Kahoolawe (1.03), Lanai (1.3), Molokai (1.5), Oahu (3), Kauai (4). Farther west are over a hundred much smaller and older islands, many of them eroded down to sea level or below.

ALOHA!

P.S. Please send me a postcard from Maui (see page 10).
